One Discipline Four Ways British German French And American Anthropology Halle Lectures:

One Discipline, Four Ways Fredrik Barth, 2005-05-16 The first book length introduction to the history of the four major traditions in anthropology Not only traces the development of each tradition but considers their impact on one another and assesses their future potentials BOOKJACKET One Discipline, Four Ways Fredrik Barth, Andre Gingrich, Robert Parkin, Sydel Silverman, 2010-03-17 One Discipline Four Ways offers the first book length introduction to the history of each of the four major traditions in anthropology British German French and American The result of lectures given by distinguished anthropologists Fredrik Barth Andre Gingrich Robert Parkin and Sydel Silverman to mark the foundation of the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology this volume not only traces the development of each tradition but considers their impact on one another and assesses their future potentials Moving from E B Taylor all the way through the development of modern fieldwork Barth reveals the repressive tendencies that prevented Britain from developing a variety of anthropological practices until the late 1960s Gingrich meanwhile articulates the development of German anthropology paying particular attention to the Nazi period of which surprisingly little analysis has been offered until now Parkin then assesses the French tradition and in particular its separation of theory and ethnographic practice Finally Silverman traces the formative influence of Franz Boas the expansion of the discipline after World War II and the fault lines and promises of contemporary anthropology in the United States Anthropology and Radical Humanism Jack Glazier, 2020-03-01 Paul Radin famed ethnographer of the Winnebago joined Fisk University in the late 1920s During his three year appointment he and graduate student Andrew Polk Watson collected autobiographies and religious conversion narratives from elderly African Americans Their texts represent the first systematic record of slavery as told by former slaves That innovative subject centered research complemented like minded scholarship by African American historians reacting against the disparaging portrayals of black people by white historians Radin s manuscript focusing on this research was never published Utilizing the Fisk archives the unpublished manuscript and other archival and published sources Anthropology and Radical Humanism revisits the Radin Watson collection and allied research at Fisk Radin regarded each narrative as the unimpeachable self representation of a unique thoughtful individual precisely the perspective marking his earlier Winnebago work As a radical humanist within Boasian anthropology Radin was an outspoken critic of racial explanations of human affairs that pervaded not only popular thinking but also historical and sociological scholarship His research among African Americans and Native Americans thus places him in the vanguard of the anti racist scholarship marking American anthropology Anthropology and Radical Humanism sets Paul Radin s findings within the broader context of his discipline African American culture and his career defining work among the Winnebago The Ethnographic Experiment Edvard Hviding, Cato Berg, 2014-06-01 In 1908 Arthur Maurice Hocart and William Halse Rivers Rivers conducted fieldwork in the Solomon Islands and elsewhere in Island Melanesia that served as the turning point in the development of modern anthropology The work of these two anthropological pioneers on the small island of Simbo brought about the development of participant observation as a methodological hallmark of social anthropology This would have implications for Rivers later work in psychiatry and psychology and Hocart's work as a comparativist for which both would largely be remembered despite the novelty of that independent fieldwork on remote Pacific islands in the early years of the 20th Century Contributors to this volume who have all carried out fieldwork in those Melanesian locations where Hocart and Rivers worked give a critical examination of the research that took place in 1908 situating those efforts in the broadest possible contexts of colonial history imperialism the history of ideas and scholarly practice within and beyond anthropology

Cultural Phylogenetics Larissa Mendoza Straffon, 2016-02-10 This book explores the potential and challenges of implementing evolutionary phylogenetic methods in archaeological research by discussing key concepts and presenting concrete applications of these approaches The volume is divided into two parts The first covers the theoretical and conceptual implications of using evolution based models in the sociocultural domain illustrates the sorts of questions that these methods can help answer and invites the reader to reflect on the opportunities and limitations of these perspectives The second part comprises case studies that address relevant empirical issues such as inferring patterns and rates of cultural transmission detecting selective pressures in cultural evolution and explaining the nature of cultural variation This book will appeal to archaeologists interested in applying evolutionary thinking and inferential methods to their field and to anyone interested in cultural evolution studies

Uncovering Pacific Pasts Hilary Howes, Tristen Jones, Matthew Spriggs, 2022-06-21 Objects have many stories to tell The stories of their makers and their uses Stories of exchange acquisition display and interpretation This book is a collection of essays highlighting some of the collections and their object biographies that were displayed in the Uncovering Pacific Pasts Histories of Archaeology in Oceania UPP exhibition The exhibition which opened on 1 March 2020 sought to bring together both notable and relatively unknown Pacific material culture and archival collections from around the globe displaying them simultaneously in their home institutions and linked online at www.uncoveringpacificpasts.org Thirty eight collecting institutions participated in UPP including major collecting institutions in the United Kingdom continental Europe and the Americas as well as collecting institutions from across the Pacific

Inventer Et Mobiliser Le Local Association euro-africaine pour l'anthropologie du changement social et du développement, 2010 Over the last decade West African villages rural towns and urban neighbourhoods have experienced changes resulting from democratisation and decentralisation processes While much hope was invested in decentralisation policies in the 1990s today there is a need to look at everyday decentralisation practices In this volume authors of different scholarly backgrounds focus on political economic and cultural aspects of decentralisation By exploring party politics water provision schooling territorial division and cultural understanding the case studies highlight core stakes and fundamental contradictions of present day decentralisation in West Africa

some of the most important ethnographers in early anthropology this volume explores twelve defining works in the foundational period from 1870 to 1922 It challenges the assumption that intensive fieldwork and monographs based on it emerged only in the twentieth century What has been regarded as the age of armchair anthropologists was in reality an era of active ethnographic fieldworkers including women practitioners and Indigenous experts Their accounts have multiple layers of meaning style and content that deserve fresh reading This reference work is a vital source for rewriting the history of anthropology

Growing Artefacts, Displaying Relationships Ludovic Coupaye,2013-08-01 What gives artefacts their power and beauty This ethnographic study of the decorated long yams made by the Nyamikum Abelam in Papua New Guinea examines how these artefacts acquire their specific properties through processes that mobilise and recruit diverse entities substances and domains All come together to form the finished product that is displayed representing what could be an indigenous form of non verbal sociology Engaging with several contemporary anthropological topics material culture techniques arts aesthetics rituals botany cosmology Melanesian ethnography the text also discusses in depth the complex position of the study of technology within anthropology

Water and Power in Past Societies Emily Holt,2018-05-01 Examines the many ways water has contributed to power structures in the past with insights for contemporary water management Water an essential resource in all cultures is at the heart of human power structures Utilizing a diverse range of theoretical perspectives the contributors to Water and Power in Past Societies provide a broad introduction to the archaeology of water related power structures The studies herein explore the long history of water politics in human society offering new insights into the power structures and inequalities surrounding irrigation systems the collection of rainwater as a component of ancient industrial production and sea water as a facilitator of communication trade and aggression In addition to examining the role of different types of water in creating power relationships the volume presents case studies from a variety of climatic regions ranging from the very dry to the tropical This geographical breadth facilitates cross cultural comparison making Water and Power in Past Societies an essential resource for instructors and students of the archaeology of water Finally in addition to reaching conclusions with significant implications for archaeologists and anthropologists the volume has real contemporary relevance often drawing explicit parallels with issues of current and future water management

Doing Anthropology in Wartime and War Zones Reinhard Johler,Christian Marchetti,Monique Scheer,2014-04-09 World War I marks a well known turning point in anthropology and this volume is the first to examine the variety of forms it took in Europe Distinct national traditions emerged and institutes were founded partly due to collaborations with the military Researchers in the cultural sciences used war zones to gain access to informants prisoner of war and refugee camps occupied territories even the front lines Anthropologists tailored their inquiries to aid the war effort contributed to interpretations of the war as a struggle between races and assessed the warlike nature of the Balkan region whose crises were key to the outbreak of the Great War

Companion to Qualitative Analysis Jeanine Evers,2025-10-01

Qualitative analysis resembles a puzzle you are confronted with a heap of data and you find yourself wondering what should I do next Ideally you have already started the analysis before the amount of data becomes overwhelming However realistically qualitative research inevitably generates a large amount of data that requires thorough organization interpretation combination and manipulation A Companion to Qualitative Analysis introduces the concept of Thick analysis a triangulation strategy that enables you to systematically examine your data from a broad perspective to get the most out of your research Part I of the book provides a theoretical overview of different analysis methods the use of QDAS qualitative data analysis software ethical considerations and quality demands Part II illustrates what the combination of different analyses of the same dataset by several researchers yields And this is what Thick analysis is about Jeanine Evers wants to challenge you to think and grow while reading and rereading to understand what Thick analysis might mean for your own research The book is appropriate for PhD Master and Bachelor students and researchers in different phases of their career Israel in Transition 2 Lester L. Grabbe, 2010-11-04 Israel in Transition 2 is the second in a two volume work addressing some of the historical problems relating to the early history of Israel from its first mention around 1200 BCE to the beginnings of the kingdoms of Israel and Judah During this four century transition period Israel moved from a group of small settlements in the Judean and Samarian hill country to the two kingdoms of Israel and Judah occupying much of the land on the west side of the Jordan The present volume engages with the relevant texts These include various inscriptions such as the Tel Dan inscription and the Assyrian inscriptions but also an examination of the biblical text The articles discuss various individual problems relating to Israelite history but ultimately the aim is to comment on historical methodology The debate among Seminar members illustrates not only the problems but also suggests solutions and usable methods The editor provides a perspective on the debate in a Conclusion that summarizes the contributions of the two volumes together Anthropology and Political Science Myron J. Aronoff, Jan Kubik, 2013 What can anthropology and political science learn from each other The authors argue that collaboration particularly in the area of concepts and methodologies is tremendously beneficial for both disciplines though they also deal with some troubling aspects of the relationship Focusing on the influence of anthropology on political science the book examines the basic assumptions the practitioners of each discipline make about the nature of social and political reality compares some of the key concepts each field employs and provides an extensive review of the basic methods of research that bridge both disciplines ethnography and case study Through ethnography participant observation reliance on extended case studies and the use of anthropological concepts and sensibilities a greater understanding of some of the most challenging issues of the day can be gained For example political anthropology challenges the illusion of the autonomy of the political assumed by political science to characterize so called modern societies Several chapters include a cross disciplinary analysis of key concepts and issues political culture political ritual the politics of collective identity democratization in divided societies conflict resolution civil society and the politics of post Communist transformations      Neo-nationalism in Europe and Beyond André Gingrich, Marcus Banks, 2006 Prompted by the near simultaneous rise to political influence of more than a dozen apparently similar parties across Western Europe this collection offers a range of European case studies with selected global examples such as the Front National the late Pim Fortuyn and India and the BJP      The Politics of Heritage in Indonesia Marieke Bloembergen, Martijn Eickhoff, 2020-01-16 Presents a new approach to heritage formation in Asia conveying the power of the material remains of the past      Holistic

Anthropology David Parkin, Stanley Ulijaszek, 2011 Given the broad reach of anthropology as the science of humankind there are times when the subject fragments into specialisms and times when there is rapprochement Rather than just seeing them as reactions to each other it is perhaps better to say that both tendencies co exist and that it is very much a matter of perspective as to which is dominant at any moment The perspective adopted by the contributors to this volume is that some anthropologists have over the last decade or so been paying considerable attention to developments in the study of social and biological evolution and of material culture and that this has brought social material cultural and biological anthropologists closer to each other and closer to allied disciplines such as archaeology and psychology A more eclectic anthropology once characteristic of an earlier age is thus re emerging The new holism does not result from the merging of sharply distinguished disciplines but from among anthropologists themselves who see social organization as fundamentally a problem of human ecology and from that of material and mental creativity human biology and the co evolution of society and culture It is part of a wider interest beyond anthropology in the origins and rationale of human activities claims and beliefs and draws on inferential or speculative reasoning as well as hard evidence The book argues that while usefully borrowing from other subjects all such reasoning must be grounded in prolonged intensive and linguistically informed fieldwork and comparison

Soziale Ästhetik, Atmosphäre, Medialität Philipp Zehmisch, Ursula Münster, Jens Zickgraf, Claudia Lang, 2018      The SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology Richard Fardon, Oliva Harris, Trevor H J Marchand, Cris Shore, Veronica Strang, Richard Wilson, Mark Nuttall, 2012-07-25 In two volumes the SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology provides the definitive overview of contemporary research in the discipline It explains the what where and how of current and anticipated work in Social Anthropology With 80 authors contributing more than 60 chapters this is the most comprehensive and up to date statement of research in Social Anthropology available and the essential point of departure for future projects The Handbook is divided into four sections Part I Interfaces examines Social Anthropology's disciplinary connections from Art and Literature to Politics and Economics from Linguistics to Biomedicine from History to Media Studies Part II Places examines place region culture and history from regional area studies to a globalized world Part III Methods examines issues of method from archives to war zones from development projects to art objects and from ethics to comparison Part IV Futures anticipates anthropologies to come in the Brain Sciences in post Development in the Body and Health and in new Technologies and Materialities Edited by the leading figures in social anthropology the Handbook includes a substantive

introduction by Richard Fardon a think piece by Jean and John Comaroff and a concluding last word on futures by Marilyn Strathern The authors each at the leading edge of the discipline contribute in depth chapters on both the foundational ideas and the latest research Comprehensive and detailed this magisterial Handbook overviews the last 25 years of the social anthropological imagination It will speak to scholars in Social Anthropology and its many related disciplines Fredrik Barth Thomas Hylland Eriksen, 2015-04-20 Fredrik Barth is one of the towering figures of twentieth century anthropology This intellectual history traces the development of Barth's ideas and explores the substance of his contributions In an accessible style Thomas Hylland Eriksen's biographical study reveals the magic of ethnography to professional anthropologists and non practitioners alike Exploring his six decade career it follows Barth from early ecological studies in Pakistan to political studies in Iran to groundbreaking fieldwork in Norway New Guinea Bali and Bhutan Eriksen argues that Barth's voracious appetite for fieldwork holds the key to understanding his remarkable intellectual development and the insights it produced The book raises many of the same questions that emerge from Barth's own work of unity and diversity of culture and relativism of art and science
