One Planet Many People Atlas Of Our Changing Environment:

One Planet, Many People Ashbindu Singh, United Nations Environment Programme, 2005 Launched to mark World Environment Day 2005 and produced by the UNEP in collaboration with organisations such as the US Geological Survey and NASA this publication uses text illustrations satellite images and ground photographs to depict and analyse humanity's impact on our environment. Issues discussed include population growth and urbanisation, natural resources consumption, land use intensification, biodiversity and habitat loss, environmental impacts and trends including global warming, air and water pollution and the impacts on oceans and coastal zones, forests and tundra changes that result from geo hazards such as earthquakes and tsunamis, climate hazards such as floods and droughts and industrial hazards such as nuclear accidents and oil spills and suggestions for mitigating the effects of global environmental change.

Jigsaw Cities Anne Power, John Houghton, 2007-03-14 This new book explores Britain's intensely urban and increasingly global communities as interlocking pieces of a complex jigsaw they are hard to see apart yet they are deeply unequal. Jigsaw Cities examines these issues using Birmingham, Britain's second city as a model of pioneering urban order and as a victim of brutal Modernist planning.

The Art of City Making Charles Landry, 2012-05-16 City making is an art not a formula. The skills required to re-enchant the city are far wider than the conventional ones like architecture, engineering and land use planning. There is no simplistic ten point plan but strong principles can help send good city making on its way. The vision for 21st century cities must be to be the most imaginative cities for the world rather than in the world. This one change of word from in to for gives city making an ethical foundation and value base. It helps cities become places of solidarity where the relations between the individual, the group, outsiders to the city and the planet are in better alignment. Following the widespread success of The Creative City this new book, aided by international case studies, explains how to reassess urban potential so that cities can strengthen their identity and adapt to the changing global terms of trade and mass migration. It explores the deeper fault lines, paradoxes and strategic dilemmas that make creating the good city so difficult.

The Libyan Economy Waniss Otman, Erling Karlberg, 2007-05-28 This book delivers a thorough and essential analysis of current economic policy, transformation and legislative changes in Libya. The authors answer many questions about Libya's distinctive society and economic system and explain the necessity for the major restructuring of the Libyan economy which is currently in process. The book makes extensive use of previously unavailable economic and social data and thus allows a unique insight into a fascinating country.

UNEP 2006 Annual Report United Nations Environment Programme, 2007-05-18 This is a summary of UNEP's activities in 2006. The main purpose of UNEP is to encourage international co-operation in preserving and protecting the environment. This objective is developed alongside other United Nations departments and international governments by addressing issues such as climate change and sustainable development challenges. Environmental issues also tie into poverty reduction and the general development strategies as set out in the Millennium Development Goals. The theme of this particular annual report is change.
