Ten Years to Midnight Blair H. Sheppard, 2020-08-04 Shows how humans have brought us to the brink and how humanity can find solutions I urge people to read with humility and the daring to act Harpal Singh former Chair Save the Children India and former Vice Chair Save the Children International In conversations with people all over the world from government officials and business leaders to taxi drivers and schoolteachers Blair Sheppard global leader for strategy and leadership at PwC discovered they all had surprisingly similar concerns In this prescient and pragmatic book he and his team sum up these concerns in what they call the ADAPT framework Asymmetry of wealth Disruption wrought by the unexpected and often problematic consequences of technology Age disparities stresses caused by very young or very old populations in developed and emerging countries Polarization as a symptom of the breakdown in global and national consensus and loss of Trust in the institutions that underpin and stabilize society These concerns are in turn precipitating four crises a crisis of prosperity a crisis of technology a crisis of institutional legitimacy and a crisis of leadership Sheppard and his team analyze the complex roots of these crises but they also offer solutions albeit often seemingly counterintuitive ones For example in an era of globalization we need to place a much greater emphasis on developing self sustaining local economies And as technology permeates our lives we need computer scientists and engineers conversant with sociology and psychology and poets who can code The authors argue persuasively that we have only a decade to make headway on these problems But if we tackle them now thoughtfully imaginatively creatively and energetically in ten years we could be looking at a dawn instead of darkness

The Coherence of the Inchoate Albin Wallace, 2012-11-16 This book examines and compares the in school and out of school use of the internet by children Previous research and recent writings on this topic are examined and a theoretical framework is formed that eclectically draws on a number of sources including postmodern authors Through the use of a mixed methodology it was found that informal learning using the internet often appears as self motivated with a strong sense of ownership both of content creation and social networking It is often generated by a real purposeful need by the children themselves often with the assistance of their peers Schools should be places where literacy in new media can be developed The concern is that school and home practices may diverge to the point where school use becomes increasingly irrelevant to children's lives The Methuen Drama Handbook of Women in Contemporary British Theatre Marissia Frangkou, Rebecca Benzie, 2025-02-06 This handbook provides a detailed exploration of the rich and diverse theatrical work produced by women in the first two decades of 21st century British theatre. The book explores key issues and methodologies relevant to women working in the UK's theatre industry including the legacies of feminism and its role in shaping contemporary work by women, the politics of visibility and inclusion in theatrical institutions and collaborative strategies in creating original work. It closely examines how women in contemporary British theatre tackle urgent social issues such as environmental risk, the representation of marginalized identities and mental and physical wellbeing. Chapters by both established and early career scholars from a variety of international contexts present new perspectives on significant questions and issues underpinning women's work in 21st century British theatre by engaging with contemporary debates from theatre and performance studies and cultural theory. A concluding roundtable with women theatre practitioners addresses key questions pertaining to their work including working conditions, the politics of funding and of ageing, disability and care. With a foreword by the Guardian's chief theatre critic Arifa Akbar and featuring research tools such as introductions to sections, a detailed list of sources and an annotated bibliography, this is an authoritative study for anyone with a keen research interest in the distinct contribution of women to contemporary British theatre and performance.
