Visits to Central America Marilyn Beaudry-Corbett, Ellen T. Hardy, 2000-12-01 This volume presents translations of essays by three German scholars who were preeminent in the social and natural science study of Central America in the early part of the twentieth century Their research areas included ethnology archaeology geography linguistics and epigraphy Their detailed observations of traditional cultures and archaeological remains provide important primary data Because their writings have been available only in the original German language journals the work of these scholars is unfamiliar to many researchers The chapters report on specific visits to parts of Central America but also include more synthetic coverage of topics such as the influence of Bartolome de las Casas on Indian life in Guatemala and food and drink as well as religion of the Q'eqchi' in Guatemala. The visited places include Pacific coastal and highland Guatemala, the Pech area of Honduras and zones of Costa Rica inhabited by the Guatuso, Chirripo and Talamanca Indians. Central America, 1992

Rumney, 2013-04-04 Connecting the massive landscapes of North and South America are Mexico and Central America. An area of fascination and study for geographers and scholars from around the world for millennia, these lands and people have played important roles in the discoveries and distributions of civilizations, resources, and nations. These regions have stimulated a large amount of research and publications across the sub-disciplines of geography. The Geography of Central America and Mexico: A Scholarly Guide and Bibliography by Thomas A. Rumney collects, organizes, and presents as many of these publications as possible to encourage efforts in the teaching, study, and continuing scholarship of the geography of this area, which includes Mexico, Belize, Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama. Beginning with the region as a whole, each chapter that follows, one per nation, is divided by the specific sub-disciplines of geography: cultural, social, economic, historical, physical, and environmental, political, and urban. Each section is further divided by document type: atlases, books, book chapters, articles from scholarly journals, master's theses, and doctoral dissertations. Although the majority of entries recorded focus on English language works, selected entries written in Spanish as well as French, German, and other languages are included, with entries' titles translated into English and noted accordingly.
