The Early Imperial Republic Michael A. Blaakman, Emily Conroy-Krutz, Noelani Arista, 2023-03-21 Created in a world of empires the United States was to be something new an expansive republic proclaiming commitments to liberty and equality but eager to extend its territory and influence Yet from the beginning Native powers free and enslaved Black people and foreign subjects perceived interacted with and resisted the young republic as if it was merely another empire under the sun Such perspectives have driven scholars to reevaluate the early United States as the parameters of early American history have expanded in Atlantic continental and global directions If the nation's acquisition of Puerto Rico Guam and the Philippine Islands in 1898 traditionally marked its turn toward imperialism new scholarship suggests the United States was an empire from the moment of its creation The essays gathered in The Early Imperial Republic move beyond the question of whether the new republic was an empire investigating instead where how and why it was one They use the category of empire to situate the early United States in the global context its contemporaries understood drawing important connections between territorial conquests on the continent and American incursions around the globe They reveal an early U S empire with many different faces from merchants who sought to profit from the republic's imperial expansion to Native Americans who opposed or leveraged it from free Black colonizationists and globe trotting missionaries to illegal slave traders and anti imperial social reformers In tracing these stories the volume's contributors bring the study of early U S imperialism down to earth encouraging us to see the exertion of U S power on the ground as a process that both drew upon the example of its imperial predecessors and was forced to grapple with their legacies Taken together they argue that American empire was never confined to one era but is instead a thread throughout U S history Contributors Brooke Bauer Michael A Blaakman Eric Burin Emily Conroy Krutz Kathleen DuVal Susan Gaunt Stearns Nicholas Guyatt Amy S Greenberg M Scott Heerman Robert Lee Julia Lewandoski Margot Minardi Ousmane Power Greene Nakia D Parker Tom Smith

The Feminist Pacific Rumi Yasutake, 2024-08-06 As competing American European and later Japanese imperial and colonial ambitions spread across the ocean in the nineteenth century Honolulu emerged as a transnational hub for the exchange of ideas Rumi Yasutake reveals the pivotal role of women's organizing in this era of rapid globalization tracing how diverse movements intersected and converged in Hawai'i with worldwide consequences The Feminist Pacific examines transnational networks in Hawai'i beginning in 1820 with the arrival of American missionary wives and through the rise of women's internationalism in the interwar years It follows an array of suffragists missionaries maternalists and antiwar activists in their international campaigns for peace and social justice that culminated in the formation of the Pan Pacific Women's Association PPWA and subsequent conferences Yasutake explores how these movements radiated from Honolulu and branched out to the United States Japan and China She illuminates their contradictions showing how women's striving for collective power went at once in the face of and hand in hand with globalization settler colonialism and imperialism Yasutake underscores how the PPWA and the movements that formed it wrestled with the dichotomies of their world home and public domestic and foreign native and settler white and nonwhite feminist and antifeminist Bridging nineteenth century Protestant churchwomen s evangelism with twentieth century feminist internationalism this book recasts women s global organizing from the perspective of the Pacific Island Queens and Mission Wives Jennifer Thigpen,2014 Kamehameha s kingdom Soldiers and angels for God When worlds collide Gendered diplomacy Hawaiian heroines Historical Dictionary of New England Peter C. Frances Gulick Jewett,Congregational Sunday-School and Publishing Society,1895 Portraits of American Protestant Missionaries to Hawaii Hawaiian Mission Children's Society,1901 Life in Hawaii Titus Coan,2013-10-14 Life in Hawaii is a brief overview of the life and times of Titus Coan 1801 1882 an extraordinary man who lived during the early days of the colonization of Hawaii He was born and raised in rural Connecticut graduated from Auburn Theological Seminary and was ordained in 1833 In 1834 he sailed with his new wife Fidelia Church to Hilo where he was to remain and make his life s work for the next 48 years After learning and mastering the Hawaiian language he won the confidence of the Hawaiians and converted thousands to Christianity He set up schools as did his wife and provided medical assistance and comfort to a rapidly changing culture He later established churches and trained native converts to act as missionaries among their own people He traveled extensively and at times with great peril throughout his island home and later to the Marquesas Islands

His adventures and descriptions of first time encounters with both the environment and the people are quite remarkable This was a time of great excitement and great despair Foreign interests in Hawaii military engagements visitors of renown and Hawaiian Kings all provide a rather colorful backdrop against which his story is told In addition to his missionary labors Titus Coan added a great deal to our knowledge of volcanic eruptions He corresponded and worked with geologist James Dwight Dana performed many observations and published with the American Journal of Science For decades he explored and recorded the volcanic activity on the island of Hawaii Life in Hawaii; an Autobiographic Sketch of Mission Life and Labors Titus Coan, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1882 edition Excerpt XII Seedling Missions Hawaii sends out Missionaries Need of a Missionary Packet The Three Morning Stars IN the prosecution of our work on the Hawaiian Islands an active missionary spirit was developed in great strength This was of course one of the legitimate fruits of a faithfully preached and truly accepted Gospel We sent a mission to the Marquesas Islands which for years we conducted under great disadvantages We had no packet to communicate with that group but were obliged to charter small and uncomfortable vessels at high prices to carry out our missionaries with their supplies and to send out our annual delegates to look after and encourage them Then as our funds and men increased we thought that the Marquesan field was too small for our energies and the idea sprang up in the minds of some of our brethren that we might lengthen our cords by exploring among the numerous islands to the west and establishing a mission in Micronesia in conjunction with the American Board The Morning Star No i 155 This thought ripened into action and American and Hawaiian missionaries were sent out Still we had no vessel at command and were obliged to look to others to supply this want Hence arose the thought of securing the needed packet I proposed that we should request the Board to call on the children of the United States to contribute in shares of ten cents for such a vessel and that her name be The Day Star This was agreed to and the mission appointed me to write to the Board at Boston on the subject The proposal met with favor with only one amend ment viz that the name should be The Morning Star The call on the children to take shares in this enterprise was popular and it spread over many States The needed
