

MINISTRY TO THE INCARCERATED

Dr. Covert uses his experiences as both police officer and state prison chaplain to examine the environment of the incarcerated—people who are often forgotten by society. He emphasizes particular areas of inmate stress and how they impact upon the inmate's spiritual formation and the role of the Church in offering encouragement, healing and transformation. He calls for staff education, environmental improvement, and a pastoral presence that facilitates rehabilitation and hope, rather than discouragement and punishment.

"At last, a sober, insightful, practical, and modern expression of Jesus' ancient command that we are to care for the prisoner as well as the sick and naked."

Orlo Scrunk, Jr. Ph.D. Managing Editor Emeritus,
The Journal of Pastoral Care

"A timely message juxtaposed to the political rhetoric and public mood of today... insightful in describing both the uniqueness of the environment and the role of the Church in it."

Joseph D. Leaman (former Commissioner),
Maine Department of Correction

"Ministry to the Incarcerated should be on the desk of every prison chaplain. It provides a comprehensive view of the challenge that lies before the chaplain... enlightening, encouraging, relevant."

Rev. Francis T. Menei (retired), Administrator of Religion &
Family Service, Pennsylvania Department of Corrections

Hicks, Richmond Stoglin, 2008 United Methodists have a rich history of involvement in prison ministry and criminal justice work Yet today precisely at a time when incarceration is reaching unprecedented levels in the United States prison ministry in The United Methodist Church is fragmented and badly in need of a fresh vision I Was In Prison seeks to address this need Grounded in the concept of restorative justice it suggests a holistic framework for United Methodist ministry with the incarcerated involving three interrelated communities endorsed chaplains and others who serve primarily inside prisons congregational and community based leaders and ministries and seminaries and theological schools Contributors offer penetrating theological sociological historical institutional and practical insights that can help United Methodists engage prison ministry with integrity and hope Streetwise Prison Ministry Rebecca Lewis, 2024-04-11 Every year thousands of religious individuals and groups of all faiths volunteer to enter into jails and prisons to bring hope to the incarcerated But while their intention is honorable many of these volunteers run into the reality of a highly dysfunctional complicated and often volatile environment hostile by its nature to those efforts Jail and prison ministry is not just about bringing the gospel of deliverance to the inmates through religious programming and spiritual counseling Wise ministry comes from knowing the dynamics of the mission field which is often filled with the condensed darkness of human suffering and evil and many wolf traps Effective jail and prison ministry requires the religious volunteer to have an awareness of the inner nuances of that environment A study of inmate religious games security issues that affect civilians entering to minister as well as their own personal perceptions of ministry in a secular environment is part of being fully equipped for that mission Jail and prison ministry is not for the naive in matters that may sabotage or weaken the intended purpose of those religious volunteers who seek to bring the hope of the gospel into the dark places that are our jails and prisons Getting Out Michael B.
