New Lepidium (Brassicaceae) from New Zealand Peter James De Lange,Peter Brian Heenan,G. J. Houlston,Jeremy R. Rolfe,A. D. Mitchell,2013 The vascular flora of New Zealand contains an estimated 2400 species of indigenous plant of which a staggering 83% are endemic Nevertheless despite the 244 years of botanical exploration there are still many flowering plants left to formally describe from New Zealand In this issue of PhytoKeys the diversity of the endemic Cook's Scurvy grass Lepidium oleraceum is subjected to a modern taxonomic treatment recognising in the process ten new endemic species and accepting six others described by past workers This issue includes detailed descriptions for all 16 Lepidium species and discusses their ecology ethnobotany and conservation status A dichotomous key to the naturalised and indigenous Lepidium of the New Zealand archipelago is also provided

Te Puna - A New Zealand Mission Station Angela Middleton,2009-03-01 Evangelical missionary societies have been associated with the processes of colonisation throughout the globe from India to Africa and into the Pacific In late 18th century Britain the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East CMS began its missionary ventures and in the first decade of the 19th century sent three of its members to New South Wales Australia and then on to New Zealand an unknown little explored part of the world Across the globe a common material culture travelled with its evangelizing and later colonizing settlers with artefacts appearing as cultural markers from Cape Town in South Africa to Tasmania in Australia and the even more remote Bay of Islands in New Zealand After missionization colonization occurred Additionally common themes of interaction with indigenous peoples household economy the development of commerce and social and gender relations also played out in these communities This work is unique in that it provides the first archaeological examination of a New Zealand mission station and as such makes an important contribution to New Zealand historical archaeology and history It also situates the case study in a global context making a significant contribution to the international field of mission archaeology It informs a wider audience about the processes of colonization and culture contact in New Zealand along with the details of the material culture of the country's first European settlers providing a point of comparison with other outposts of British colonization      The Handbook of New Zealand Mammals Carolyn King, David Forsyth, 2021-01-20 The Handbook of New Zealand Mammals is the only definitive reference on all the land breeding mammals recorded in the New Zealand region including the New Zealand sector of Antarctica It lists 65 species including native and exotic wild and feral living and extinct residents vagrants and failed introductions It describes their history biology and ecology and brings together comprehensive and detailed information gathered from widely scattered or previously unpublished sources The description of each species is arranged under standardised headings for easy reference Because the only native land breeding mammals in New Zealand are bats and seals the great majority of the modern mammal fauna comprises introduced species whose arrival has had profound effects both for themselves and for the native fauna and flora The book details changes in numbers and distribution for the native species and for the arrivals it summarises changes in habitat diet numbers and size in comparison with their ancestral stocks and some of the problems they present to resource managers For this third edition the text and references have been completely updated and reorganised into Family chapters The colour section includes 14 pages of artwork showing all the species described and their main variations plus two pages of maps      A Concise History of New Zealand Philippa Mein Smith, 2012 The story of this rugged and dynamic land is beautifully narrated from its origins in Gondwana to the twenty first century      New Zealand Journal of Geology and Geophysics , 1958-02      The Battlecruiser New Zealand Matthew Wright, 2022-07-08 This book tells the story of HMS New Zealand a battlecruiser paid for by the government of New Zealand at the height of its pro Imperial jingo era in 1909 when Britain's ally Japan was perceived as a threat in Australasia and the Pacific Born of the collision between New Zealand's patriotic dreams and European politics the tale of HMS New Zealand is further wrapped in the turbulent power plays at the Admiralty in the years leading up to the First World War The ship went on to have a distinguished First World War career when she was present in all three major naval battles Heligoland Dogger Bank and Jutland in the North Sea The book busts many of the myths associated with the ship and her construction including the intent of the gift New Zealand's ability to pay deployment and the story behind the piupiu skirt and tiki pendant that the crew believed bestowed special protection upon the vessel All is interwoven with the human and social context to create a biography of the ship as an expression of human endeavour in significantly more detail than any of the summaries available in prior accounts Extensively illustrated this is a book with appeal to a wide audience from naval enthusiasts and historians to the general reader with a wider interest in the story of Empire The use of archival material available only in New Zealand including the Ship's Book adds a dimension and novelty not previously included in histories of this great battlecruiser      Journal of the Royal Society of New Zealand , Perspectives Of Two Island Nations: Singapore-new Zealand Anne-marie Schleich, 2024-06-18 Singapore and New
