The Art of Compilation Anna Dorofeeva, 2025-03-04 The Art of Compilation Manuscripts and Networks in the Early Medieval Latin West interrogates the medieval manuscript book as a dynamic constantly changing object entangled in intellectual and cultural networks constructed and deconstructed by different people and transmuting in form and meaning over time Medieval manuscripts are not static permanently bound and delimited but rather serve as evidence for the layered relationships between texts and their material supports and when we realize that we gain a clearer view of medieval manuscript culture as driven by the agency and intellectual exchange of the people behind it This volume of essays investigates early medieval Western European manuscript culture as a field of entangled objects focusing on the connections between knowledge selection material representation and scribal agency The complex road of compiling selected texts into manuscripts compilatio in the early Middle Ages is still not well understood yet it is the key to the historical context surrounding medieval manuscript culture The practice of knowledge selection consisted of three key stages the intellectual selection of the textual content of manuscript collections the pragmatic action of arranging the textual content in a draft form by authors or editors and the material representation and aesthetic exposition of texts in manuscripts These stages were part of a linear development but also exercised reciprocal influence upon one another By tracing this process in surviving manuscript collections we can better understand in what practical ways knowledge was encoded and how these often innovative and experimental practices contributed to the emergence and consolidation of intellectual and scribal traditions This has important implications for how we understand education reform and the exercise of power in the early Middle Ages

The Oxford Handbook of Medieval Christianity John H. Arnold, 2014-08-21 The Oxford Handbook of Medieval Christianity takes as its subject the beliefs practices and institutions of the Christian Church between 400 and 1500AD It addresses topics ranging from early medieval monasticism to late medieval mysticism from the material wealth of the Church to the spiritual exercises through which certain believers might attempt to improve their souls Each chapter tells a story but seeks also to ask how and why Christianity took particular forms at particular moments in history paying attention to both the spiritual and otherworldly aspects of religion and the material and political contexts in which they were often embedded This Handbook is a landmark academic collection that presents cutting edge interpretive perspectives on medieval religion for a wide academic audience drawing together thirty key scholars in the field from the United States the UK and Europe Notably the Handbook is arranged thematically and focusses on an analytical rather than narrative approach seeking to demonstrate the variety change and complexity of religion throughout this long period and the numerous different ways in which modern scholarship can approach it While providing a very wide ranging view of the subject it also offers an important agenda for further study in the field

In the ninth century Martianus Capella's De nuptiis Philologiae et Mercurii a late antique encyclopedia of ancient learning on the seven Liberal Arts was read with scrupulous vigour by the intellectual elite Carolingian scholars produced a wealth of commentaries and glosses which survived hidden in the margins of a remarkably large number of manuscripts In the first part of the book the manuscript tradition of the oldest commentary is taken under scrutiny and the Carolingian reception of ancient knowledge on the subject of music is opened up and analyzed Its relevance for the formation of a new medieval music theory is evaluated In the second part the relevant parts of the oldest commentary are edited on the basis of eight ninth century manuscripts The Routledge Companion to Cultural History in the Western World

The ways in which we search for information today often differ from the ways literate individuals in Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages interacted with manuscripts in search of knowledge At some stage in the development of western literacy the need to find written information led to the invention and propagation of consultation aids that we now take for granted including page numbering indices and cross references This volume seeks to enhance our understanding of an important aspect of medieval literacy and of the western literate mentality by addressing some crucial questions What are the differences and similarities between early and late medieval ways of finding written information How and why were the manuscript page and the organisation of written texts altered How and why did consultation literacy as we now know it

The Development of Literate Mentalities in East Central Europe Anna Adamska, Marco Mostert, 2004 Compared with most of Continental Europe North of the Alps the introduction of writing in East Central Europe Bohemia Poland and Hungary took place with a considerable delay Much is known about East Central European uses of writing although only a fragment of this knowledge is known outside the region Gathered by historians palaeographers and codicologists diplomatists art historians literary historians and others this knowledge has hardly ever been studied in the light of recent discussions on medieval literacy and communication Work done in the Czech Polish and Hungarian traditions of scholarship has never been subjected to a comparative analysis Furthermore the question of the relation between writing and other forms of communication in the region remains largely unexplored The volume serves a double purpose For the first time a collection of contributions on medieval literacy in East Central Europe is put before the forum of international scholarship It is also hoped to further discussions of modes of communication literate behaviour and mentalities among scholars working in the region

Latin Literatures of Medieval and Early Modern Times in Europe and Beyond Francesco Stella, Lucie Doležalová, Danuta Shanzer, 2024-07-15 The textual heritage of Medieval Latin is one of the greatest reservoirs of human culture Repertories list more than 16 000 authors from about 20 modern countries Until now there has been no introduction to this world in its full geographical extension Forty contributors fill this gap by adopting a new perspective making available to specialists but also to the interested public new materials and insights The project presents an overview of Medieval and post medieval Latin Literatures as a global phenomenon including both Europe and extra European regions It serves as an introduction to medieval Latin s complex and multi layered culture whose attraction has been underestimated until now Traditional overviews mostly flatten specificities yet in many countries medieval Latin literature is still studied with reference to the local history Thus the first section presents 20 regional surveys including chapters on authors and works of Latin Literature in Eastern Central and Northern Europe Africa the Middle East Asia and the Americas Subsequent chapters highlight shared patterns of circulation adaptation and exchange and underline the appeal of medieval intermediality as evidenced in manuscripts maps scientific treatises and iconotexts and its performativity in narrations theatre sermons and music The last section deals with literary interfaces that is motifs or characters that exemplify the double sided or the long term transformations of medieval Latin mythologemes in vernacular culture both early modern and modern such as the legends about King Arthur Faust and Hamlet Utrecht Elisabeth De Bievre,2024-12-06 This book presents the latest research on the cities monuments from the arrival of Willibrord and Boniface and the establishment of the Bishopric It focuses on 12th century sculptural iconography manuscript production fonts secular architecture and the Gothic cathedral The Social Consequences of Literacy in Medieval Scandinavia Arnved Nedkvitne,2004 Between 1000 and 1536 Scandinavia was transformed from a conglomerate of largely pre state societies to societies characterized by state governments Its most important single aspect was the increasing monopolization of legitimate violence by the state But Church and State also used literacy to strengthen social control and they did so in central and important areas jurisdiction religious conformity and accounting Thus they hoped to control the areas they understood to be most important Their intentions were largely fulfilled The main driving force behind the transition to state societies was the monopolization of legitimate violence but the use of literacy made a difference as well By writing down oral laws and by increasingly resorting to writing in traditionally oral judicial procedures the state gradually gained control of institutionalized social practices with a minimum of legitimate violence Written laws made social norms more precise and easier to change a necessity in an increasingly complex society Writing also strengthened social cohesion by creating common religious rituals procedures and narratives Written accounts made taxation more stable and therefore seem more just and acceptable The basic social transformations of the period cannot be attributed to increasing literacy alone But the written word rendered the reorganization of society in Scandinavia more peaceful and gradual strengthened social conformity and cohesion Strategies of Writing Petra Schulte,Marco Mostert,Irene van Renswoude,2008 The contributions to this volume address the complex relationships between trust and writing in the Middle Ages They deal with charters historiography letters political communication and the possibilities of trust in writing Some of the questions addressed are Does writing as a medium engender trust irrespective of the contents of the written text Was trust in writing dependent on trust in an authority Was the written form of the text meant to confer trust on its contents Did rituals take place that were meant to enhance the text s trustworthiness Can changes be observed in the strategies of engendering trust Was trust considered food for reflection in written texts What was considered to constitute a breach of trust The volume is dedicated to Michael Clanchy whose work inspired much of its contents BOOK JACKET
