New Frontiers In Cognitive Aging:

New Frontiers in Cognitive Aging Roger A. Dixon, Lars Bäckman, Lars-Göran Nilsson, 2004 With an ever increasing population of aging people in the western world it is more crucial than ever that we try to understand how and why cognitive competence breaks down with advancing age why do some people follow normal patterns of cognitive change while others follow a path of progressive decline with neurodegenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's What can be done to prevent cognitive decline or to avoid neurodegenerative diseases The answers if they come will not emerge from research within one discipline but from work being done across a range of scientific and medical specialities This volume brings together leading experts from a range of fields studying cognitive aging including neuroscience pharmacology health genetics sensory biology and epidemiology Unlike other books in this area this book is more about new frontiers than past research and accomplishments Recently cognitive aging research has taken several new directions linking with and benefiting from rapid technological and theoretical advances in these neighbouring disciplines This book provides unique interdisciplinary coverage of the topic With each chapter including commentaries from specialists in related fields the book provides an integrative study of the topic For those within the fields of psychology cognitive neuroscience and geriatrics this volume will make an important contribution in furthering our understanding of a problem that affects us all Enduring Questions in Gerontology Debra J. Sheets, Dana Burr Bradley, PhD, Jon Hendricks, PhD, 2006. Enduring Questions in Gerontology provides a comprehensive perspective on the abiding issues in gerontology. Both current and future gerontologists will find this book useful in examining emerging dilemmas and creating a context for further progress in the field of aging. The most creative thinkers contributing to the gerontological literature reflect on their disciplines, consider how key questions have emerged, review how they have changed in the decades since gerontology entered the fray and speculate what may lie ahead. The resulting collection of essays offers a comprehensive perspective on the enduring questions in gerontology and how they have shaped our understanding of differences in the experience of old age. Key contributors to this volume include George L. Maddox, Christine L. Fry, Steven Austad, Kenneth Brummel, Smith, Manfred Diehl, Martha Holstein, W. Andrew Achenbaum, James E. Birren. As an emerging or seasoned scholar, you will find insights into the ways in which each disciplinary focus grapples with societal transitions, identifies emerging issues and lays out strategies and salient perspectives for what should come next.

Handbook of the Clinical Psychology of Ageing Robert T. Woods, Linda Clare, 2015-04-13. The first authoritative reference on clinical psychology and aging, the Handbook of the Clinical Psychology of Ageing was universally regarded as a landmark publication when it was first published in 1996. Fully revised and updated, the Second Edition retains the breadth of coverage of the original, providing a complete and balanced picture of all areas of clinical research and practice with older people. Contributions from the UK, North America, Scandinavia, and Australia provide a broad overview of the psychology of aging, psychological problems including depression, anxiety, psychosis, and dementia, the current social service context, and assessment and intervention techniques.
