Chapters 1-2

They are orphaned brothers who live alone on the East Side. They are "Greasers," members of a gang of friends who look out for each other.

2. How are Greasers different from Socs?

Greasers are from the east side of town. They are poor and usually in trouble with the law. Socs (Socials) are from the west side of town. They come from wealthy families and have fancy cars and parties.

3. Who were other members of Pony's gang?

Darry, Soda, Two-Bit, Johnny, Dally, and Steve.

4. What happened to Pony on his way home from the movies?

He was jumped by some Socs. He was not seriously injured because his friends came along and ran off the Socs.

5. Who did Dally, Johnny and Ponyboy meet at the Nightly Double?

They met Cherry and Marcia, two Soc girls.

6. Contrast Dally's approach to Cherry and Marcia with Pony's, and contrast Cherry's response to Dally with her response to Pony.

Dally was rude, crude, foul-mouthed and annoying to the girls. Pony was polite, sensitive and rather soft-spoken. Cherry insulted and rejected Dally but accepted Pony's friendship.

7. Why were Cherry and Marcia alone at the drive-in?

The girls had a fight with their boyfriends, who left.

8. Pony was somewhat surprised that he was getting along with Cherry and Marcia. Why?

They were Socs; he was a Greaser. No Soc girls had ever spoken to him except to insult him.

Collective Learning for Transformational Change Valerie A. Brown, Judith A. Lambert, 2013 The drive for change has informed human endeavour throughout history. From fields to factories to offices, people have always asked how to make things better. This innovative book offers a step by step guide for recognising the need for transformational change and kick starting a course of implementation that leads to the creation of a productive just and sustainable future for the given community. Drawing on over 300 cases of transformational change planned for and supported through the process of collective learning, the book shows how a collective learning model based on open learning among diverse interests can improve communication and achieve lasting system change. Part one of the book outlines the theory and practice of collective learning drawing on the experiential learning cycle developed by David Kolb. The practice follows the rules of open space learning, dialogue and valuing diversity and is flexible allowing adaptation to different situations. Case studies in Part two provide examples of collective learning leading to transformational change in a wide range of contexts from cities to councils to organisations. Part three offers thirty three activities on which the programme designers can draw in the course of guiding transformational change from team building to community development, monitoring, evaluation and cross cultural learning. This guidebook differs from the traditional management of change. Not only does the process begin with sharing ideals, only later proceeding to implementation, but it also actively harnesses the full set of interests in planning direct action seeking constructive collaboration, not consensus. This groundbreaking guidebook is designed to be fun, accessible and engaging for both students and professionals in the fields of administration and governance.
