

Praise for Our Mathematical Universe

"Our Mathematical Universe boldly confronts one of the deepest questions at the fertile interface of physics and philosophy: Why is mathematics so spectacularly successful at describing the cosmos? Through lively writing and wonderfully accessible explanations, Max Tegmark—one of the world's leading theoretical physicists—guides the reader to a possible answer, and reveals how, if it's right, our understanding of reality itself would be radically altered."

—Professor Brian Greene, physicist, author of The Elegant Universe and The Hidden Reality

"This inspirational book written by a true expert presents an explosive mixture of physics, mathematics and philosophy which may alter your views on reality."

—Professor Andrei Linde, physicist, Gruber and Milner laureate for the development of inflationary cosmology

"Daring, radical, innovative. A game changer. If Dr. Tegmark is correct, this represents a paradigm shift in the relationship between physics and mathematics, forcing us to rewrite our textbooks. A must-read for anyone deeply concerned about the universe."

—Professor Michio Kaku, physicist, author of Physics of the Future

"Readers of varied backgrounds will enjoy this book. Almost anyone will find something to learn here, much to ponder and perhaps something to disagree with."

—Professor Edward Witten, physicist, Fields Medalist and Milner laureate

"Galileo famously said that the universe is written in the language of mathematics. Now Max Tegmark says that the universe is mathematics. You don't have to necessarily agree to enjoy this fascinating journey into the nature of reality."

—Professor Mario Livio, astrophysicist, author of Brilliant Blunders and Is God a Mathematician?
