Mental Health In Australia Collaborative Community Practice:

Mental Health and Collaborative Community Practice John Farhall, Ellie Fossey, Brenda Happell, Fiona McDermott, Sebastian Rosenberg, Vrinda Edan, Merinda Epstein, Hamilton Kennedy, Cath Roper, 2020-11-05 A comprehensive reference on mental health in Australia and internationally. Mental Health and Collaborative Community Practice: An Australian Perspective is an authoritative comprehensive reference on the state of mental health and mental health care in Australia and internationally. It provides the latest information on descriptions of the disorders, policy and treatments for mental illness. The fourth edition is updated with the most recent changes to policy and practice, including incorporating the new diagnostic tool ICD 11. With a strong focus on community collaboration and recovery, and through the many stories of mental health care that are woven into the descriptions of disorders and their treatments, this edition provides guidance for a more personal approach to mental health care. An extended team of authors, editors and associate editors provide their interdisciplinary perspectives and lived experience to help readers understand and connect with the broad facets of mental health care. NEW TO THIS EDITION: New associate editors with lived experience of mental health problems enable accuracy and respect to how people with mental illness feel about themselves and respond to medical, psychosocial and other interventions. New chapters engage with issues of social determinants and needs of specific groups in the community, while others extend the range of diagnoses considered. New examples of mental health disorders and treatment in practice, including personal stories of people with a mental illness and their experience of mental health care.

Mental Health in Australia Graham Meadows, Bruce Singh, 2001 This book provides a comprehensive overview of mental health in Australia at the beginning of the new millennium. Containing a wealth of information and a rich diversity of perspectives, this book includes contributions from consumers, carers, managers, researchers and clinicians of many disciplines.

Community Mental Health for Older People Gerard Byrne, Christine Neville, 2010 Community Mental Health for Older People is the perfect resource for mental health workers as it discusses the ageing population within the context of community mental health. It provides a comprehensive overview of the important issues and clinical practices that influence mental health care for older people. Written from a multidisciplinary perspective, it is suitable for all health workers in community mental health teams: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workers, clinical psychologists, consumer representatives, medical practitioners, occupational therapists, registered nurses, social workers, etc. as it incorporates the use of case studies to aid in the application of evidence-based practice. Multidisciplinary approach serves to illustrate the breadth and context of mental issues for older people. Chapters are topical and relevant, discussing issues such as service provision, cultural and rural issues, major disorders and interventions, as well as ethical and legal issues. Vignettes are included throughout the clinical chapters and serve to illustrate real cases derived from practice. Evidence-based practice is a key element to this pivotal new text as it highlights the best method of practice in a clear and accessible manner. Highly readable style without the bulkiness of excessive
