World Economic Outlook, October 2022 International Monetary Fund, 2022-10-11 Global economic activity is experiencing a broad based and sharper than expected slowdown with inflation higher than seen in several decades. The cost of living crisis, tightening financial conditions in most regions, Russia's invasion of Ukraine and the lingering COVID 19 pandemic all weigh heavily on the outlook. Global growth is forecast to slow from 6.0 percent in 2021 to 3.2 percent in 2022 and 2.7 percent in 2023. This is the weakest growth profile since 2001 except for the global financial crisis and the acute phase of the COVID 19 pandemic. Global inflation is forecast to rise from 4.7 percent in 2021 to 8.8 percent in 2022 but to decline to 6.5 percent in 2023 and to 4.1 percent by 2024. Monetary policy should stay the course to restore price stability and fiscal policy should aim to alleviate the cost of living pressures while maintaining a sufficiently tight stance aligned with monetary policy. Structural reforms can further support the fight against inflation by improving productivity and easing supply constraints while multilateral cooperation is necessary for fast tracking the green energy transition and preventing fragmentation.

World Economic Outlook, April 2019 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept., 2019-04-09 After strong growth in 2017 and early 2018 global economic activity slowed notably in the second half of last year reflecting a confluence of factors affecting major economies. China's growth declined following a combination of needed regulatory tightening to rein in shadow banking and an increase in trade tensions with the United States. The euro area economy lost more momentum than expected as consumer and business confidence weakened and car production in Germany was disrupted by the introduction of new emission standards. Investment dropped in Italy as sovereign spreads widened and external demand especially from emerging Asia softened. Elsewhere natural disasters hurt activity in Japan. Trade tensions increasingly took a toll on business confidence and so financial market sentiment worsened with financial conditions tightening for vulnerable emerging markets in the spring of 2018 and then in advanced economies later in the year weighing on global demand. Conditions have eased in 2019 as the US Federal Reserve signaled a more accommodative monetary policy stance and markets became more optimistic about a US China trade deal but they remain slightly more restrictive than in the fall.

World Economic Outlook, October 2017 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept., 2017-10-10 The global upswing in economic activity is strengthening. Global growth which in 2016 was the weakest since the global financial crisis at 3.2 percent is projected to rise to 3.6 percent in 2017 and to 3.7 percent in 2018. The growth forecasts for both 2017 and 2018 are 0.1 percentage point stronger compared with projections earlier this year. Broad based upward revisions in the euro area, Japan, emerging Asia, emerging Europe and Russia where growth outcomes in the first half of 2017 were better than expected more than offset downward revisions for the United States and the United Kingdom. But the recovery is not complete while the baseline outlook is strengthening growth remains weak in many countries and inflation is below target in most advanced economies. Commodity exporters especially of fuel are particularly hard hit as their adjustment to a sharp step down in foreign earnings continues. And while short term risks are broadly balanced medium term risks are still tilted to the downside.

The welcome cyclical pickup in global activity thus provides an ideal window of opportunity to tackle the key policy challenges namely to boost potential output while ensuring its benefits are broadly shared and to build resilience against downside risks A renewed multilateral effort is also needed to tackle the common challenges of an integrated global economy
