

Of Mice and Men Viewing Guide:

* Please answer on a separate sheet of paper ****

Differences between novels and films:

Novel	Film
Linguistic = words	Visual = images
Conceptual	Perceptual
Raw material = written words	Raw material = recorded images and sounds
One author	Collaborative

I. Vocabulary

- Flashback: alteration in story order in which the plot moves back in time to show events that have taken place earlier than those already shown.
- Close-up: a framing in which the scale of the object shown is relatively large. Most commonly, a person's head is seen from the neck up or an object fills most of the screen.
- Depth of Field: the area or field between the closest and farthest planes captured by the camera in which everything appears in sharp focus.
- Establishing Shot: a shot that shows the relationship among important figures, objects, characters, and setting at a distance. The film then cuts to more detailed shots that bring the audience closer to the characters.
- Point of View (POV): a shot taken from the position of a character's eyes. It shows the viewer what things look like from the character's position.
- Wide Angle: the use of a wide-angle lens to create a shot that captures a wide range of elements.
- Crosscutting: editing that alternates shots of two or more lines of action occurring in different places. It is often used during dramatic sequences to increase tension.

II. Cast and Crew

Unlike the novel, Of Mice and Men, which was essentially created by one man (John Steinbeck), the film version is a collaborative effort. Each person on screen and behind the scenes influences the overall film.

- Who wrote the screenplay?
- Who is the director?
- Who plays George?
- Do you think this was good casting? What is different about the looks and behavior of the actor from what you had imagined?
- Who plays Lennie?
- Does the actor portray Lennie differently from what you had imagined while reading? Does the actor bring anything new to the character that emphasizes a characteristic?

 Donna E. Alvermann, Deborah R. Dillon, David G. O'Brien, 1987 Drawing from observations of discussion in 24 different classrooms this book will provide preservice and inservice teachers at the middle and school levels with the motivation and knowledge to use discussion to foster student comprehension of content area text assignments The first chapter examines the distinctions between discussion and recitation and redefines major issues related to content area discussion in light of recent research and school reform reports The second chapter establishes a basis for the premise that discussion is important to the development of reading comprehension illustrating those skills that enrich or refine students understanding of text The third chapter uses portions of transcripts from videotaped content class discussions to illustrate how classroom context influences discussion practices Alternatives to teacher dominated discussions are described and guidelines are provided for establishing the rights and responsibilities of critical readers The fourth chapter demonstrates how to plan for classroom discussion of assigned material describing five aspects of the planning process The fifth chapter presents discussion strategies that help students master the content examine more than one side of the issue and evaluate alternative solutions to a text based problem while the sixth chapter analyzes one content area teacher's implementation of a preplanned discussion Finally the seventh chapter describes two procedures for informally evaluating classroom discussion used to promote reading comprehension References follow each chapter HTH Pedagogy into Practice Frances R. Spielhagen, Nicole
