The Passions of the Soul René Descartes, Stephen H. ; translator Voss, Genevieve ; foreword by Rodis-Lewis, 1988

Humour in the Arts Vivienne Westbrook, Shun-liang Chao, 2018-07-27 This collection demonstrates the usefulness of approaching texts verbal visual and aural through a framework of humour Contributors offer in depth discussions of humour in the West within a wider cultural historical context to achieve a coherent chronological sense of how humour proceeds from antiquity to modernity Reading humorously reveals the complexity of certain aspects of texts that other reading approaches have so far failed to reveal Humour in the Arts explores humour as a source of cultural formation that engages with ethical political and religious controversies whilst acquainting readers with a wide range of humorous structures and strategies used across Western cultures The Adaptive Mind Richard John Koscijew, 2019-07-22 Having by an accenting effect extending for the purposes of interest as the matter that involves to those of concerns to the immediate surroundings that dwell upon certainty especially connected with those concerning scepticism that in as in fact quality or state of being certain is clearly established or assumed Although Greek scepticism entered on the value of enquiry and questioning scepticism is now the denial that knowledge or even rational belief is possible either about some specific subject matter e g ethics or in any area whatsoever Classical scepticism springs from the observation that the best method in some area seems to fall short of giving us contact with the truth e g there is a gulf between appearances and reality it frequently cites the conflicting judgements that our methods deliver with the effectuality that expresses doubt about truth becoming narrowly spaced that in turn demonstrates their marginality in at least ascribed of being indefinable In classic thought the various examples of this conflict were systemized in the tropes of Aenesidemus So that the scepticism of Pyrrho and the new Academy was a system of argument and inasmuch as opposing dogmatism and particularly the philosophical system building of the Stoics

Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture Freya Sierhuis, 2016-05-13 Bringing together scholars from literature and the history of ideas Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture explores new ways of negotiating the boundaries between cognitive and bodily models of emotion and between different versions of the will as active or passive In the process it juxtaposes the historical formation of such ideas with contemporary philosophical debates It frames a dialogue between rhetoric and medicine politics and religion in order to examine the relationship between mind and body and between experience and the senses Some chapters discuss literature in studies of Shakespeare Donne and Milton other essays concentrate on philosophical arguments both Aristotelian and Galenic models from antiquity and new mechanistic formations in Descartes Hobbes and Spinoza A powerful sense of paradox emerges in treatments of the passions in the early modern period also reflected in new literary and philosophical forms in which inwardness was displayed analysed and studied the autobiography the essay the soliloquy genres which rewrite the formation of subjectivity At the same time the frame of reference moves outwards from the world of interior states to encounter the passions on a public stage thus reconnecting literary study with the history of political thought In between the abstract theory of political ideas and the inward selves of literary history lies a field of intersections waiting to be explored The passions like human nature itself are infinitely variable and provoke both literary experimentation and philosophical imagination Passions and Subjectivity in Early Modern Culture thus makes new connections between embodiment selfhood and the emotions in order to suggest both new models of the self and new models for interdisciplinary history
