Guide to Curriculum in Education Ming Fang He, Brian D. Schultz, William H. Schubert, 2015-06-05 The SAGE Guide to Curriculum in Education integrates, summarizes and explains in highly accessible form foundational knowledge and information about the field of curriculum with brief, simply written overviews for people outside of or new to the field of education. This Guide supports study, research and instruction with content that permits quick access to basic information accompanied by references to more in-depth presentations in other published sources. This Guide lies between the sophistication of a handbook and the brevity of an encyclopedia. It addresses the ties between and controversies over public debate, policy making, university scholarship and school practice. While tracing complex traditions, trajectories and evolutions of curriculum scholarship, the Guide illuminates how curriculum ideas, issues, perspectives and possibilities can be translated into public debate, school practice, policy making and life of the general public, focusing on the aims of education for a better human condition. 55 topical chapters are organized into four parts: Subject Matter as Curriculum, Teachers as Curriculum, Students as Curriculum and Milieu as Curriculum, based upon the conceptualization of curriculum commonplaces by Joseph J. Schwab: subject matter, teachers, learners and milieu. The Guide highlights and explicates how the four commonplaces are interdependent and interconnected in the decision-making processes that involve local and state school boards and government agencies, educational institutions and curriculum stakeholders at all levels that address the central curriculum questions: What is worthwhile? What is worth knowing? Needing, experiencing, doing, being, becoming, overcoming, sharing, contributing, wondering and imagining. The Guide benefits undergraduate and graduate students, curriculum professors, teachers, teacher educators, parents, educational leaders, policy makers, media writers, public intellectuals and other educational workers. Key Features: Each chapter inspires readers to understand why the particular topic is a cutting-edge curriculum topic; what are the pressing issues and contemporary concerns about the topic; what historical, social, political, economic, geographical, cultural, linguistic, ecological, etc. contexts surrounding the topic area; how the topic relevant practical and policy ramifications and contextual embodiment can be understood by theoretical perspectives and how forms of inquiry and modes of representation or expression in the topic area are crucial to develop understanding for and make impact on practice, policy, context and theory. Further readings and resources are provided for readers to explore topics in more details.

Resisting Neoliberalism in Education Lyn Tett, Mary Hamilton, 2019-08-28 Neoliberalism has been widely criticised because of its role in prioritising free markets as the optimum way of solving problems and organising society. In the field of education this leads to an emphasis on the knowledge economy that can reduce both persons and education to economic actors and be detrimental to wider social and ethical goals Drawing on a range of international contexts across informal adult school and university settings this book provides innovative examples that show how neoliberalism in education can be challenged and changed at the local national and transnational levels in order to foster a more democratic culture

Education at War Arshad Imtiaz Ali, 2018-04-10 Education at War The Fight for Students of Color in America's Public Schools attempts to shape educational research and practice to more explicitly consider the relationship between education capitalism and war and more specifically its impact on students of color The authors as a whole contend that the contemporary specter of war has become a central way that racism and materialism become manifested and practiced within education In particular this collection asserts that the contemporary neoliberal characterization of education and school based reform is situated within the global political economy that has facilitated a growth in the prison and military industrial complex and simultaneous divestment in education domestically within the U S Education at War attempts to make research relevant by bringing the tensions within young people's lives to the fore The heavy shadow cast by recent U S led wars re organizes the sites of learning and teaching nationally as well as differentially within specific sites and upon particular communities Nonetheless the examination of this context is not enough Rather we consider how such a contemporary context can facilitate educational spaces for communities and youth to grow their vision for a different and hopefully a more humanizing future Thus the book contributors will collectively explore how resistance can produce the opportunity for rich diverse and transformative learning for marginalized students and communities The lives of People of Color are the forefront of Education at War The Fight for Students of Color in America's Public Schools Whereas there are many attempts to theorize about the global implications of war less attention is paid to the ways that war shapes young lives in the U S particularly in an educational context The book addresses the absence of youth centered discussions regarding education during a political context of neoliberalism and war and provides important perspectives on which to ground critical discussions among students and families education scholars and practitioners and policymakers
