

A woman with her hair in a bun, wearing glasses and a black and white patterned top, is smiling and looking at a tablet she is holding. The background is a blurred home interior with a blue wall decorated with several small framed pictures. A large window on the right side of the frame allows bright light to enter. In the bottom right corner, there is a small red heart icon.

Creating an Undergraduate Literary Journal Audrey Colombe, 2021-12-16 University literary journals allow students to create their own venue for learning, have a hands-on part of their development in real-world skills, and strive towards professional achievement. But producing an undergraduate literary magazine requires commitment, funding, and knowledge of the industry. This practical guide assists students and faculty in choosing a workable structure for setting up and then successfully running their own literary publication. Whether the journal is print or online, in-house or international, Creating an Undergraduate Literary Journal is a step-by-step handbook walking the reader through the process of literary journal production. Chapters focus on defining the journal, the financial logistics, editing the journal, distribution, and what could come next for a student writer-editor after graduation. The first book of its kind to offer instruction directly to those running university-based literary magazines, this book includes insights from former editors, advisers, students, and features an extensive list of active student-run literary magazines, key literary organizations for writers, editors who serve literary publications. From Audrey Colombe, faculty adviser on the award-winning Glass Mountain magazine from the University of Houston, this is a text for both newcomers and those more informed on the production process to help them navigate through a successful publishing experience.
