Only God Knows Why Amy Lyon, 2012-09-30 I heard a choking gasping sound and looked around then realized it was coming from me This was a kind of horrid scene from a television show but this couldn't be real life Our real life My body went numb again and the doctor's voice grew farther and farther away My baby was going to die And nothing would be the same ever again Losing a child isn't the end of the world It could be but it isn't So what happens to a mother during and after such a life altering tragedy Author Amy Lyon invites readers on her journey as she shuffles less than perfectly through the ruins of loss to find that buried beneath the thick layers of sorrow hope and joy can exist even if you refuse to believe your own ongoing journey through time      Fables and Futures George Estreich, 2019-03-19 How new biomedical technologies from prenatal testing to gene editing techniques require us to imagine who counts as human and what it means to belong From next generation prenatal tests to virtual children to the genome editing tool CRISPR Cas9 new biotechnologies grant us unprecedented power to predict and shape future people That power implies a question about belonging which people which variations will we welcome How will we square new biotech advances with the real but fragile gains for people with disabilities especially when their voices are all but absent from the conversation This book explores that conversation the troubled territory where biotechnology and disability meet In it George Estreich an award winning poet and memoirist and the father of a young woman with Down syndrome delves into popular representations of cutting edge biotech websites advertising next generation prenatal tests feature articles on three parent IVF a scientist's memoir of constructing a semisynthetic cell and more As Estreich shows each new application of biotechnology is accompanied by a persuasive story one that minimizes downsides and promises enormous benefits In this story people with disabilities are both invisible and essential a key promise of new technologies is that disability will be repaired or prevented In chapters that blend personal narrative and scholarship Estreich restores disability to our narratives of technology He also considers broader themes the place of people with disabilities in a world built for the able the echoes of eugenic history in the genomic present and the equation of intellect and human value Examining the stories we tell ourselves the fables already creating our futures Estreich argues that given biotech that can select and shape who we are we need to imagine as broadly as possible what it means to belong      Dark Horse: A Boxing Manager's Memoir Adrian Clark, 2020-02-02 In the tight knit world of boxing management the winning players go along to get along After learning the ropes from inside the ring Adrian Clark stepped out into an arena where established characters can make or break any challenger In a long wild run with heady wins bruising losses and a well inked passport Clark muscled his way to respect and success This memoir tells how and it's just the beginning      The Cinema of Rithy Panh Leslie Barnes, Joseph Mai, 2021-07-16 The essays in this groundbreaking collection examine how celebrated Cambodian director Rithy Panh counters the abstraction of mass violence with a cinema anchored in the body the physical trace the direct testimony and the living landscape They explore his unique aesthetic sensibility examining the dynamic and sensuous images through which he suggests that everything has a soul      Mary Magdalene, Shaman Sara Taft, 2014-01-02 This book is the story of a physical ordeal a liver transplant which was also a profound spiritual transformation By welcoming information from unusual sources including dreams visions and synchronistic events and deepening all of this into a coherent whole through the study of psychology astrology and art Sara awakened to the realization that spirit infuses matter Sara sought out the many faces of the sacred feminine going beyond her traditional Christian upbringing and marking herself as a heretic What no one could have predicted is that Sara's journey beyond Christianity a journey that took her to the remote Australian outback a sweat lodge in an Arizona desert soaring cathedrals in the south of France and a sterile operating room at Cedars Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles would return her to a home she never knew. As she listened for the first time to the stories she had never been told, she would meet Mary Magdalene as a shaman and understand her undying devotion to her beloved Jesus. It was through the Magdalene that Sara fully realized His promise that the kingdom of heaven is within. Mary Magdalene knew this in every cell of her being and this knowledge is her gift to Sara. This book, beautifully illustrated with Sara's own paintings, offers a hopeful message to those facing life-threatening illness and traumatic loss and shows how physical ordeal is a spiritual opportunity. It speaks to heartbroken Christians who like Sara can find fresh inspiration in the original teachings of Jesus.

The Way of Nature and the Way of Grace Vernon W. Cisney, Jonathan Beever, 2016-06-15. Amid all the controversy, criticism and celebration of Terrence Malick's award-winning film The Tree of Life, what do we really understand of it? The Way of Nature and the Way of Grace thoughtfully engages the philosophical riches of life, culture, time and the sacred through Malick's film. This innovative collection traverses the relationships among ontological, moral, scientific and spiritual perspectives on the world, demonstrating how phenomenological work can be done in and through the cinematic medium and attempting to bridge the gap between narrow theoretical works on film and their broader cultural and philosophical significance. Exploring Malick's film as a philosophical engagement, this readable and insightful collection presents an excellent resource for film specialists, philosophers of film and film lovers alike.

The Czech Manuscripts David L. Cooper, 2023-10-15. The Czech Manuscripts is dedicated to one of the most important literary forgeries on the model of Macpherson's Ossianic poetry. The Queen's Court and Green Mountain Manuscripts, discovered in 1817 and 1818, went on to play an outsized role in the Czech National Revival, functioning as founding texts of the national mythology and serving as sacred works in the long period when they were considered genuine. A successful literary forgery tells a lot about what a culture wants and needs at a particular moment. One fascinating aspect of this story is how a successful fake was able to function in an integral way as part of the Czech cultural revival of the nineteenth century, both because it played to expectations and nationalist values and because it met real cultural needs in many ways better than genuine historical literary works and artefacts. Also fascinating is the vainglorious Vclav Hanka, a prolific and dedicated forger who was likely the center of the conspiratorial ring that created the manuscripts and who went on as the librarian of the Czech National Museum to alter a number of others. David Cooper analyzes what made the Manuscripts a convincing imitation of their Serbian and Russian models. He looks at how translation shaped their composition and, at the benefit of examining them as pseudotranslations, and investigates the quasi-religious rituals and commemorative practices that developed around them. The Czech Manuscripts brings the Czech experience into the broader developments of European history.
