Toni R Duckworth,2013-09-25 This is my story no fabrications no bullshit just a small glimpse into the life of a young woman There is a lot to be said about going through the volatile years of ages 18 26 How do we get through them How do we approach our decisions How can we tell the difference between a man with good intentions and a man with a mission to get laid You honestly cant There are so many things that young women must learn on their own No matter how much a father or mother try to protect their children from the world somehow the world happens anyway I Dated This Guy Once is intended to not only entertain you but also to somehow educate you through my experiences We are all made up of our past experiences both good and bad It is these experiences that form the fabric of the future With that said maybe people will start looking at life relationships and marriage differently Maybe perspective is all we need to change this society I have no idea If nothing else you will undoubtedly be entertained Red wine recommended

The Promise of Pragmatism John Patrick Diggins,1995-05-15 For much of our century pragmatism has enjoyed a charmed life holding the dominant point of view in American politics law education and social thought in general After suffering a brief eclipse in the post World War II period pragmatism has enjoyed a revival especially in literary theory and such areas as poststructuralism and deconstruction In this sweeping critique of pragmatism and neopragmatism one of our leading intellectual historians traces the attempts of thinkers from William James to Richard Rorty to find a response to the crisis of modernism John Patrick Diggins analyzes the limitations of pragmatism from a historical perspective and dares to ask whether America's one original contribution to the world of philosophy has actually fulfilled its promise In the late nineteenth century intellectuals felt themselves in the grips of a spiritual crisis This confrontation with the acids of modernity eroded older faiths and led to a sense that life would continue in the awareness of absences knowledge without truth power without authority society without spirit self without identity politics without virtue existence without purpose history without meaning In Europe Friedrich Nietzsche and Max Weber faced a world in which God was dead and society was succumbing to structures of power and domination In America Henry Adams resigned from Harvard when he realized there were no truths to be taught and when he could only conclude Experience ceases to educate To the American philosophers of pragmatism it was experience that provided the basis on which new methods of knowing could replace older ideas of truth Diggins examines how in different ways William James Charles Peirce John Dewey George H Mead and Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr demonstrated that modernism posed no obstacle in fields such as science education religion law politics and diplomacy Diggins also examines the work of the neopragmatists Jurgen Habermas and Richard Rorty and their attempt to resolve the crisis of postmodernism Using one author to interrogate another Diggins brilliantly allows the ideas to speak to our conditions as well as theirs Did the older philosophers succeed in fulfilling the promises of pragmatism Can the neopragmatists write their way out of what they have thought themselves into And does America need philosophers to tell us that we do not need foundational truths when the Founders already told us that the Constitution would be a machine that would depend more upon the counterpoise of power than on the claims of knowledge Diggins addresses these and other essential questions in this magisterial account of twentieth century intellectual life It should be read by everyone concerned about the roots of postmodernism and its links to pragmatism and about the forms of thought and action available for confronting a world after postmodernism

Sovereignty Lost George Melcher,2009-04-15 The inspiring idea for the vision of writing this book was to give you the reader a new complete resuscitation on the birth and history of America of which I believe The author was born in the early days of the Depression thus having been raised during WW II and spent his youth at the time of President Harry S Truman later President Dwight Eisenhower Now through the eyes of an everyday older American who spent most of his life in the trucking industry whose goal was to build and acquire a small trucking business having a piece of the proverbial pie Meanwhile building a home and to live happily ever after In the process the author would read and above all observe the changes in America from the earlier ones back during the Depression where hard work was the key to achievement and proud to be an American was more than words in a song As a result the author now is old bold and audacious enough to try and bring what he has read about observed and believed as the real America from the first English colonies before these noble men of imposing stature As George Washington Thomas Jefferson and John Adams then fell upon inferior men as Abe Lincoln Richard Nixon Bill Clinton and the Bush dynasty with many many factors in between This with all their underlings was for the author quite a vision of degeneration from the once celebrated God granted sovereignty for its citizens We the People and the nation The author hopes that God will somehow use this small effort to His glory
