The Regulation and Reform of Music Criticism in Nineteenth-Century England Paul Watt, 2017-11-22. Music criticism in England underwent profound change from the 1880s to the 1920s. It gave rise to New criticism that aimed to be rational, impartial and intellectually authoritative. It was a break from the criticism of old the work of the opinionated journalist who wrote descriptive concert reviews with invective cliché bias and bombast. Critics such as Ernest Newman 1868-1959, John F. Runciman 1866-1916 and Michel D. Calvocoressi 1877-1944 fostered this new school and wrote extensively of their aspirations for musical criticism in their own times and for the future. This book charts the genesis of this new wave of musical criticism that sought to regulate and reform the profession of music critic. Alongside the establishment of principles, training manuals and schools for critics, hundreds of journal articles and dozens of books were written that encouraged new criticism which also had a bearing on scholarly writing in biography, aesthetics and history. The Regulation and Reform of Music Criticism in Nineteenth Century England considers the influence and advocacy of individual critics and the role that institutions such as the Musical Association and the Musical Times played in this period of change. The book also explores the impact that French and German writers had on their English counterparts, demonstrating the internationalization of critical thought of the period. Do Not Say We Have Nothing Madeleine Thien, 2025-04-25. The first time to end his marriage and the second when he took his own life. I was ten years old. Master storyteller Madeleine Thien takes us inside an extended family in China, showing us the lives of two successive generations: those who lived through Mao's Cultural Revolution and their children who became the students protesting in Tiananmen Square. At the center of this epic story are two young women, Marie and Ai Ming. Through their relationship, Marie strives to piece together the tale of her fractured family in present-day Vancouver, seeking answers in the fragile layers of their collective story. Her quest will unveil how Kai, her enigmatic father, a talented pianist, and Ai Ming's father, the shy and brilliant composer Sparrow, along with the violin prodigy Zhuli, were forced to reimagine their artistic and private selves during China's political campaigns and how their fates reverberate through the years with lasting consequences. With maturity and sophistication, humor and beauty, Thien has crafted a novel that is at once intimate and grandly political, rooted in the details of life inside China yet transcendent in its universality.
