Ondernemend waarden: waarderend ondernemen Jan Vis, 2010 Dutch Enterprise in the 20th Century Keetie E. Sluyterman, 2013-07-04 This is the first book to summarise the twentieth century economic history of the Netherlands from a business history perspective It has a broad historical coverage of Dutch business development including in particular the major multinationals such as Philips Shell and Unilever Although focused on Dutch business it has a strong international flavour

Two Centuries of Solidarity Karel-Peter Comanje, Karel Veraghtert, Brigitte Widdershoven, 2009 Health insurance is a key component of the current social security system in European Union countries In most countries modern health insurance funds and health care insurers are an essential role in implementing the public health insurance system Many of these modern health insurance funds have a fascinating and long ancestry clear traces of which can be seen today in the organisation of national health insurance as well as the structure of health insurance funds and insurers In their study Two Centuries of Solidarity the authors compare health insurance health insurance funds and health care insurers in Germany Belgium and the Netherlands Given the similar political economic and social development that these countries have undergone in the past 60 years and the qualitatively high level of health care they provide one might expect a degree of likeness in these countries health care insurance systems The dissimilarities are surprising however In fact differences are becoming ever more apparent between the different national systems in general and between the structure and operation of the health insurance funds and health care insurers in particular Differences include the compulsory nature of insurance the extent of cover premiums health insurance business mutual competition and the degree of private insurance Many of these national singularities can be understood and explained only by considering the historical background of the current national health insurance systems the insurers and their evolution over the past centuries This study adopts an institutional and political perspective towards further understanding of the development of health insurance and of how this ultimately determined the specific nature of the health care insurers and funds and how they currently operate in the three countries studied

Two Centuries of Solidarity K.P. Comanje, R.H.M. Hendriks, K.F.E. Veraghtert, B.E.M. Widdershoven, 2025-10-01 Today health insurance is a key component in the system of social security in most European Union countries In many of these countries modern health insurance funds and healthcare insurers play an essential role in implementing the public health insurance system. Many of these health insurance funds have a long and fascinating history of which clear traces can be seen today in the organisation and structure of health insurance as well as health insurance funds and insurers. In Two centuries of solidarity the authors compare the systems of health insurance health insurance funds and healthcare insurers in Germany Belgium and the Netherlands. Given the similar political economic and social development that these countries have undergone in the past 60 years and the availability of a qualitatively high level of health care one might expect a high degree of similarity between these countries healthcare insurance systems. However the dissimilarities are surprising. In fact these differences are currently becoming ever more apparent between systems in general and the structure and operation of the health insurance funds and health care insurers in particular. The differences include the compulsory nature of insurance the extent of coverage premiums entrepreneurship competition and the degree of private insurance. Many of these national singularities can be understood and explained only by considering the historical background of the health insurance systems the insurers and their evolution over the past two centuries. This study adopts an institutional and political perspective towards a further understanding of the development of health insurance and of how this ultimately determined the specific nature of the healthcare insurers and funds and the way they currently operate in Germany Belgium and the Netherlands.

Nazi Looting Gerard Aalders, 2004 The Nazi looting machine was notoriously efficient during the Second World War In the Netherlands 8 5 million citizens suffered losses estimated at 3 6 billion guilders Approximately one third of these losses were borne by Jews who comprised only 1 6% of the total population In todays terms the German occupiers stripped the Jewish population of assets worth 7 billion Nazi Looting offers a comprehensive history of the Dutch experience and demonstrates how reputable indigenous institutions acted as willing collaborators Beginning with a survey of international law and various definitions of looting the author shows how the Germans systematically robbed Dutch Jewry through a variety of means that gave the outward appearance of honest trading Forced to sell under duress and at unreasonably low prices few dared refuse the German on the doorstep when threatened with prison or incarceration in a camp The plundering was total and systematic In May 1940 a team of highly trained art historians linguists musicologists and literary experts arrived immediately behind the victorious German troops to catalogue the vast collections for Hitler From 1941 Jews were compelled to deposit all their money into a bank called Lippmann Rosenthal Co The name of the bank itself was a cynical ploy since it was taken from a respected Jewish owned Amsterdam bank and presented as a new branch This bank however simply channelled money into the Third Reich with the help of the Amsterdam Stock Exchange insurance brokers and other well established Dutch banks Once the Jews were deported their houses were emptied and the contents used to re furnish bombed out areas of the Reich In common with many other formerly Nazi occupied countries in Europe the Netherlands has been unable to retrieve many of its pre war assets More than fifty years after the wars end 20% of its most important pre war museum exhibits and approximately 80% of the less important works remain untrace Externe financile verslaggeving
