One Planet Many People Atlas Of Our Changing Environment:

One Planet, Many People Ashbindu Singh, United Nations Environment Programme, 2005 Launched to mark World Environment Day 2005 and produced by the UNEP in collaboration with organisations such as the US Geological Survey and NASA this publication uses text illustrations satellite images and ground photographs to depict and analyse humanity's impact on our environment. Issues discussed include population growth and urbanisation natural resources consumption land use intensification biodiversity and habitat loss environmental impacts and trends including global warming air and water pollution and the impacts on oceans and coastal zones forests and tundra changes that result from geo hazards such as earthquakes and tsunamis climate hazards such as floods and droughts and industrial hazards such as nuclear accidents and oil spills and suggestions for mitigating the effects of global environmental change

Jigsaw Cities Anne Power, John Houghton, 2007-03-14 This new book explores Britain's intensely urban and increasingly global communities as interlocking pieces of a complex jigsaw they are hard to see apart yet they are deeply unequal Jigsaw Cities examines these issues using Birmingham Britain's second city as a model of pioneering urban order and as a victim of brutal Modernist planning

The Art of City Making Charles Landry, 2012-05-16 City making is an art not a formula The skills required to re-enchant the city are far wider than the conventional ones like architecture engineering and land use planning There is no simplistic ten point plan but strong principles can help send good city making on its way The vision for 21st century cities must be to be the most imaginative cities for the world rather than in the world This one change of word from in to for gives city making an ethical foundation and value base It helps cities become places of solidarity where the relations between the individual the group outsiders to the city and the planet are in better alignment Following the widespread success of The Creative City this new book aided by international case studies explains how to reassess urban potential so that cities can strengthen their identity and adapt to the changing global terms of trade and mass migration It explores the deeper fault lines paradoxes and strategic dilemmas that make creating the good city so difficult

The Libyan Economy Waniss Otman, Erling Karlberg, 2007-05-28 This book delivers a thorough and essential analysis of current economic policy transformation and legislative changes in Libya The authors answer many questions about Libya's distinctive society and economic system and explain the necessity for the major restructuring of the Libyan economy which is currently in process The book makes extensive use of previously unavailable economic and social data and thus allows a unique insight into a fascinating country

UNEP 2006 Annual Report United Nations Environment Programme, 2007-05-18 This is a summary of UNEP's activities in 2006 The main purpose of UNEP is to encourage international co-operation in preserving and protecting the environment This objective is developed alongside other United Nations departments and international governments by addressing issues such as climate change and sustainable development challenges Environmental issues also tie into poverty reduction and the general development strategies as set out in the Millennium Development Goals The theme of this particular annual report is change climate change energy change ecosystem change and how such change with impact on future generations Worlding Cities Ananya Roy,Aihwa Ong,2011-06-09 Worlding Cities is the first serious examination of Asian urbanism to highlight the connections between different Asian models and practices of urbanization It includes important contributions from a respected group of scholars across a range of generations disciplines and sites of study Describes the new theoretical framework of worlding Substantially expands and updates the themes of capital and culture Includes a unique collection of authors across generations disciplines and sites of study Demonstrates how references to Asian power success and hegemony make possible urban development and limit urban politics Global Environmental Governance James Gustave Speth And Peter M. Haas,2007-09 Global Environmental Governance examines ten major environmental threats climate disruption biodiversity loss acid rain ozone depletion deforestation desertification freshwater degradation and shortages decline of marine fisheries toxic pollutants and excess nitrogen and explores how they can be addressed through treaties governance regimes and new forms of international cooperation It also critically examines the serious shortcomings of current efforts and the underlying reasons for the persistence of disturbing trends This book presents key concepts in international law and regime formation in simple accessible language and describes the current institutional landscape lessons learned and new directions needed in international governance Park Science ,2004 International Science in the National Interest at the U.S. Geological Survey National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Earth Sciences and Resources,Committee on Opportunities and Challenges for International Science at the U.S. Geological Survey,2012-07-18 Science at the U S Geological Survey USGS is intrinsically global and from early in its history the USGS has successfully carried out international projects that serve U S national interests and benefit the USGS domestic mission Opportunities abound for the USGS to strategically pursue international science in the next 5 10 years that bears on growing worldwide problems having direct impact on the United States climate and ecosystem changes natural disasters the spread of invasive species and diminishing natural resources to name a few Taking a more coherent proactive agency approach to international science and building support for international projects currently in progress would help the USGS participate in international science activities more effectively Using Google Earth in Libraries Eva H. Dodsworth,Andrew Nicholson,2015-09-01 Google Earth is a research mapping and cultural exploration tool that puts the whole world in your hands then hands over the tools to let you build your own world The uses of Google Earth in academia in libraries and across disciplines are endless and each year more innovative research projects are being released Since its launch Google Earth has had an enormous impact on the way people think learn and work with geographic information With easy access to spatial and cultural information and with customizable map features and dynamic presentation tools Google Earth is an attractive option for anyone wishing to host projects and to share research findings through a common online interface This easy to read practical guide Demonstrates how Google Earth has been used as a resource for research Showcases library path finders discovery tools and collections built with Google Earth Discusses how Google Earth can be embedded into various library services Highlights effective uses of Google Earth in specific discipline education and provide step by step sample classroom activities Introduces Google Earth features data and map making capabilities Describes Google Earth related online resources After reading this guide librarians will be able to easily integrate Google Earth's many facets into their services and help teachers integrate it into their classrooms Because so many librarians are educators and subject specialists they can customize the learning outcomes for students based on the subject being studied This book presents a cross disciplinary overview of how Google Earth can be used in research in teaching and learning and in other library services like promotion outreach reference and very importantly collection and resource exploration and discovery This comprehensive guide to using Google Earth is for public school academic and special libraries serving from the elementary level through adult levels Although articles have been written about specific subjects and specific library projects this is the first published that offer a one stop shop for utilizing this online product for library related purposes Librarians reading this book will gain the Google Earth skills required to be able to not only use it themselves but also teach others in how to use this online technology

People at the Well Hans Peter Hahn, Karlheinz Cless, Jens Soentgen, 2012-04 Water is never just H₂O It is always more It has its own ways of world making and is much more than just a substance or a commodity Water is also a focal point of religious meanings and inspires cultural practices The book shows the different forms the wide range and the impressive diversity of people's dealings with water in different cultures It presents case studies from various parts of the world staging problems about changing accessibility of water and the expectations of men and women at different places While focusing on the micro level the transdisciplinary approach highlights the fundamental differences of water related meanings and practices

Spaceship Earth in the Environmental Age, 1960-1990 Sabine Höhler, 2015-10-06 The idea of the earth as a vessel in space came of age in an era shaped by space travel and the Cold War Höhler's study brings together technology science and ecology to explore the way this latter day ark was invoked by politicians environmentalists cultural historians writers of science fiction and many others across three decades
