Measuring Police Subcultural Perceptions Frontline

Sanja Kutnjak Ivković, M. R. Haberfeld

Measuring Police Subcultural Perceptions Frontline:

Measuring Police Subcultural Perceptions Zheng Chen, 2015-11-21 Using survey data collected from 382 Chinese police officers training in a Chinese police university this research is the first empirical study to describe Chinese police perceptions of subcultural topics including the role of crime fighting and community service cynicism isolation solidarity receptivity to change and traditionalism This book describes the research method adopted in this study and the findings together with comparisons with Western police cultural studies In addition it covers an extensive review of Chinese policing history and evolution of policing strategies and a review of police subcultural themes and their potential determinants on the basis of Western studies making it both beneficial and of interest for researchers and practitioners who would like to know more about contemporary policing in China This book provides readers with insights into a little investigated area of policing the perceptions of Chinese frontline police It also makes it easy to compare the similarities and differences between police perceptions in China and the West Women Policing across the Globe Cara Rabe-Hemp, Venessa Garcia, 2019-10-16

Women Policing across the Globe provides a cross cultural comparison of the integration of women in policing across the globe paying special attention to the unique contributions that women make to the field along with the shared challenges and resistance they face Individual chapters within the book provide students with a snapshot of the status of women in modern police agencies in the countries of the United States Kuwait China the United Kingdom Australia the United Arab Emirates and Taiwan However shared issues and successes of women police in many more countries worldwide are discussed throughout the entire book This book allows students to explore the different origins of entry specialized roles their experiences of resistance and effects of historical events that have shaped the experiences of modern women police from across the world The authors discuss the new gains women are making despite the obstacles they face and ways they are transforming how policing is done every day And finally this book closes with collective issues and successes faced by women police worldwide

Higher Education and Police Colin Rogers, Bernhard Frevel, 2018-02-14 This edited collection is concerned with the ideas challenges demands and framework of conditions behind police education from an international perspective Whilst not directly concerned with a classical comparison of education concepts from different countries the broad range of international contributors consider issues such as professionalization programmes how higher education programmes influence police organizations as well how higher education influences police practice in a global context Examining a wide array of countries from Germany to China and Brazil to show the flawed nature of an education system based purely upon an approach concerned with police officer numbers the editors of this book argue for the need for greater scientific education among police around the world to meet contemporary developments A timely and well informed study this book meets a crucial gap in the literature and will serve as an important contribution to existing work on policing crime prevention and theoretical criminology Applied Research on Policing for Police Angelo G. Constantinou, 2021-08-12 This brief discusses a series of empirical studies on policing in Cyprus applying research to practice It discusses police culture and tactics and addresses politicized policing Using primary data based on both quantitative and qualitative studies on the day to day issues of front line policing in Cyprus this volume will be of interest to academics researchers and practitioners interested in comparative international policing evidence based policing and contextualization of policing in Cyprus

Policing in a Changing Vietnam Melissa Jardine, 2022-12-30 Knowledge about policing has been produced and disseminated unevenly so that our understanding comes from a skewed emphasis on the Anglo American experience Drawing on an original and comprehensive study of policing in Vietnam and engaging a Southern Criminological framework this book explores police cultures and practices in a postcolonial post Confucian transitioning economy Identifying both similarities and differences in policing and police culture in Vietnam with those found in the dominant literature from the Global North Policing in a Changing Vietnam challenges assumptions that police are purportedly apolitical averse to tertiary education and defer to legalistic approaches to policing and law enforcement It highlights that the variations identified in policing in Vietnam must be understood not as deviations from Anglo American normality but as significant separate practices and traditions of policing from which the Global North may have something to learn Contributing to ongoing debates on police culture and socialisation this book explores the assumptions about relationships between the police political systems broad societal cultures legal frameworks organisations communities and gender An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology policing gender studies sociology politics law and all those who are interested in understanding the experiences and views of the Vietnamese police

Policing China Suzanne E. Scoggins, 2021-06-15 In Policing China Suzanne E Scoggins delves into the paradox of China s self projection of a strong security state while having a weak police bureaucracy Assessing the problems of resources enforcement and oversight that beset the police outside of cracking down on political protests Scoggins finds that the central government and the Ministry of Public Security have prioritized stability maintenance weiwen to the detriment of nearly every aspect of policing The result she argues is a hollowed out and ineffective police force that struggles to deal with everyday crime Using interviews with police officers up and down the hierarchy as well as station data news reports and social media postings Scoggins probes the challenges faced by ground level officers and their superiors at the Ministry of Public Security as they attempt to do their jobs in the face of funding limitations reform challenges and structural issues Policing China concludes that despite the social control exerted by China s powerful bureaucracies security failures at the street level have undermined Chinese citizens trust in the legitimacy of the police and the capabilities of the state

Women Police in Contemporary China Anqi Shen, 2021-11-11 This is the first book to look at women in policing in the mainland of the People s Republic of China Informed by empirical data as well as rich secondary information drawn from a wide range of published materials and written by a former police officer in China this book offers a detailed discussion of key issues concerning women in the Chinese police Mainly drawing on face to face interviews with police officers and student probationers in multiple force areas Women Police in Contemporary China offers rich insights into women s lives in Chinese policing The book first discusses how Chinese women were introduced to the male only organisation and their representation in the Chinese police today It elaborates women s experiences as female officers in the police and more specifically their everyday work contributions to policing women police s own perceptions of their roles and positions in the police profession and the gendered challenges and concerns facing them It also looks at police occupational culture from a gendered lens This book is illuminating reading for all those engaged in policing studies gender and justice policymaking comparative criminal justice and all those interested in a woman s role in the Chinese police

Measuring Police Integrity Across the World Sanja Kutnjak Ivković, M.R. Haberfeld, 2015-06-10 This book brings together research on police integrity on regions worldwide The results for each country indicate whether police officers know the official rules how seriously they view police misconduct what they think the appropriate and expected discipline for misconduct should be and how willing they are to report it Police misconduct refers to everything from corruption and use excessive force to perjury falsification of evidence and failure to react Police Integrity and police misconduct are topics of great concern worldwide Police integrity is envisioned as the inclination to resist temptations to abuse the rights and privileges of police occupation Using their extensive experience studying police integrity in the United States the editors have created an applicable framework for measuring police integrity in other countries The results of their research are brought together in this timely volume including contributions from both established democracies and countries in transition which each present unique challenges for improving police integrity Each chapter follows the same format and contains a theoretical analysis of the relevant legal historical political social and economic conditions in the country followed by the analyses of empirical results and policy recommendations In the last chapter editors Kutnjak Ivković and Haberfeld take a comparative look across the countries by engaging in the in depth comparative analysis This work will be of interest to researchers and policy makers studying policing both in the United States and internationally presenting a theoretical framework that can be applied to other regions for further research

Exploring Police Integrity Sanja Kutnjak Ivković, M. R. Haberfeld, 2019-11-09 This work provides an innovative new look at police ethics including results from an updated version of the classic Police Integrity Questionnaire including new social and technological advances It aims to push the study of police research further expanding on and testing police integrity theory and methodology the relationship between community and integrity and the influence of multiculturalism and globalization on policing and community attitudes This work brings together experienced scholars who have used the police integrity theory and the accompanying methodology to measure police integrity in eleven countries and provide advance and sophisticated explorations of the topic Organized into three thematic sections it explores the testing methodology for international comparisons insights into police community relations and explores police subcultures This innovative book will be of interest to researchers in criminology criminal justice particularly with an interest in policing as well as related fields such as sociology public policy and comparative law

An Examination of Police Culture and Its Effects on Patrol Officers Attitudes Towards Restorative Justice Braeden

Broschuk, 2020 The purpose of this research is to examine the relationship between restorative justice and police culture and the level to which this culture acts as barrier to the successful implementation and use of restorative justice by frontline police officers Using a multi level work group framework frontline officer s attitudes and understanding of restorative justice and police culture beliefs are examined and then their impact on frontline police work is assessed This study employs an explanatory sequential mixed methods design and is conducted in two phases The initial quantitative phase involved distributing a Likert style survey to frontline officers to measure their attitudes and understanding of restorative justice and police culture variables After analysis of the initial quantitative findings semi structured interview questions were developed building on these findings to provide for a more in depth qualitative analysis Results indicate that police culture variables such as solidarity teamwork crime fighting and tough on crime attitudes are still persistent in policing but frontline officers are generally accepting of restorative justice and believe that it has a place in their frontline work as a dispositional tool Findings indicate however that officers perceive restorative justice as another option only for less serious crimes and low risk offenders and not as a new method of managing offender activity Restorative justice is not being used to its fullest potential To increase use of RJ diversion more thorough training specialist designations and supervisory and middle management direction is recommended
