Monstrous Mothers: Troubling Tropes Andrea O'Reilly, Abigail L. Palko, 2021-08-01 Motherhood is one of those roles that assumes an almost outsized cultural importance in the significance we force it to bear It becomes both the source of and the repository for all kinds of cultural fears Its ubiquity perhaps makes it this perfect foil After all while not everyone will become a mother everyone has a mother When we force motherhood to bear the terrors of what it means to be human we inflict trauma upon those who mother A long tradition of bad mothers thus shapes contemporary mothering practices and the way we view them including the murderous Medea of Greek mythology the power hungry Queen Gertrude of Hamlet and the emasculating mother of Freud s theories Certainly there are mother who cause harm inflict abuse act monstrously Mothers are human But mothers are also a favourite and easy scapegoat The contributors to this collection explore a multitude of interdisciplinary representations of mothers that through their very depictions of bad mothering challenge the tropes of monstrous mothering that we lean on revealing in the process why we turn to them Chapters in Monstrous Mothers Troubling Tropes explore literary cinematic and real life monstrous mothers seeking to uncover social sources and results of these monstrosities devalue motherhood and individualize success and failure Orgad juxtaposes these stories with media and policy depictions of women work and family detailing how even as their experiences fly in the face of fantasies of work life balance and marriage as an egalitarian partnership these women continue to interpret and judge themselves according to the ideals that are failing them Rather than calling for women to transform their feelings and behavior Heading Home argues that we must unmute and amplify women s desire disappointment and rage and demand social infrastructure that will bring about long overdue equality both at work and at home

The Case for Single Motherhood Katherine Elizabeth Mack, 2023-12-05 Delves into the rhetorical work of elective single mothers ESMs in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries as they sought and continue to seek to legitimize their maternal identities and family formations Scholars of rhetoric have largely overlooked the inherent rhetoricity of family In The Case for Single Motherhood Katherine Mack posits family as a central concern of rhetorical studies by reflecting on how language is used by single mothers who seek to reenvision the personal social and political meanings of family Drawing on intersectional and rhetorical theories Mack demonstrates how the category of elective single motherhood emerged in response to the historically differential treatment of unwed mothers along racial and class lines Through her readings of a range of self sponsored ESM texts guidebooks memoirs and interactive digital media written by and primarily for other ESMs and from her perspective as an elective single mother herself Mack evaluates the rhetorical power as well as the exclusions and hierarchies that the ESM label effects She analyzes how ESMs envision motherhood visions that entail their musings about who can and should mother Ultimately Mack offers women who are considering nonnormative paths to motherhood a way to affirm their maternal identities and paths without disparaging others Scholars in the fields of rhetoric and feminist rhetorical studies will find in this volume an illuminating perspective on the rhetorical power of self sponsored texts in particular Crafting a methodology to identify and evaluate the goals and effects of legitimacy work and selecting sources that bring academic attention to varied genres of self sponsored writings Mack paves the way for future rhetorical studies of motherhood and family

Antiheroines of Contemporary Media Melanie Haas, N. A. Pierce, Gretchen Busl, 2020-12-02 This volume of essays provides a critical foray into the methods used to construct narratives which foreground antiheroines a trope which has become increasingly popular within literary media film and television Antiheroine characters engage constructions of motherhood womanhood femininity and selfhood as mediated by the structures that socially prescribe boundaries of gender sex and sexuality Within this collection scholars of literary cultural media and gender studies address the complications of representing agency autonomy and self determination within narrative texts complicated by age class race sexuality and a spectrum of privilege that reflects the complexities of scripting women on and off screen within and beyond the page This collection offers perspectives on the alternate narratives engendered through the motivations actions and agendas of the antiheroine while engaging with the discourses of how such narratives are employed both as potentially feminist interventions and critiques of access hierarchy and power

Still a Mother Jackie Krasas, 2021-04-15 Jackie Krasas traces the trajectories of mothers who have lost or ceded custody to an ex partner She argues that these noncustodial mothers experiences should be understood within a greater web of gendered social institutions such as employment education health care and legal systems that shapes the meanings of contemporary motherhood in the United States If motherhood means being there then noncustodial mothers through their absence are seen as nonmothers They are anti mothers to be reviled At the very least these mothers serve as cautionary tales Still a Mother questions the existence of an objective method for determining custody of children and challenges the best interests standard through a feminist reproductive justice lens The stories of noncustodial mothers that Krasas relates shed light on marriage and divorce caregiving gender violence and family court Unfortunately much of the contemporary discussion of child custody determination is dominated either by gender neutral discussions or at the opposite end of the spectrum by the idea that fathers are severely disadvantaged in custody disputes As a result the idea that mothers always receive custody has taken on the status of common sense If this was true as Krasas affirms there would be no book to write     Mediated Moms Heather L. Hundley, Sara E. Hayden, 2016 Images of good mothers saturate the media yet so too do images of mothers who do not fit this mold Numerous scholars have addressed bad mothers in the media arguing that these images are a necessary counterpoint that serves to buttress the good mother myth While mediated images of women who fail to enact good motherhood may promote good mothering as an ideal the essays in Mediated Moms Contemporary Challenges to the Motherhood Myth suggest that this is not all that is occurring in contemporary portrayals of maternity The authors in this volume explore how images of mothers have expanded beyond the good bad dichotomy simultaneously and sometimes paradoxically serving to reinforce fracture and or transcend the ideology of good motherhood     Mothering Rhetorics Lynn O'Brien Hallstein, 2020-03-03 Once only a topic among women in the private sphere motherhood and mothering have become important intellectual topics across academic disciplines Even so no book has yet devoted a sustained look at how exploring mothering rhetorics the rhetorics of reproduction rhetorics about the reproductive function of women mothers and reproducing rhetorics the rhetorical reproduction of ideological systems and logics of contemporary culture expand our understanding of mothering motherhood communication and gender Mothering Rhetorics begins to fill this gap for scholars and teachers interested in the study of mothering rhetorics in their historical and contemporary permutations The contributions explore the racialized rhetorical contexts of maternity how fixing food is thought to fix families while also regulating maternal activities and identity how Black female breastfeeding activists resisted the exploitation of African American mothers in Detroit how women in pink collar occupations both adhere to and challenge maternity leave discourses by rhetorically positioning their leaves as time off and disability identifying verbal and nonverbal shaming practices related to unwed motherhood during the mid twentieth century and redefining alternative postpartum placenta practices This book was originally published as a special issue of Women's Studies in Communication     The Golden Girls Taylor Cole Miller, Alfred L Martin, 2025-09-09 The Golden Girls Tales from the Lanai is an accessible collection that explores the cultural industrial and historical impact of that beloved American sitcom Edited by Taylor Cole Miller and Alfred L Martin Jr this anthology brings together a diverse range of voices that model different media studies approaches to researching and critically analyzing television texts The Golden Girls reclaims the production history and development of the show opens new conversations about audiences especially Black queer and female audiences and provides new insight into the meteoric rise
