Afro-Mexico Anita González,2010-12-01 While Africans and their descendants have lived in Mexico for centuries many Afro Mexicans do not consider themselves to be either black or African For almost a century Mexico has promoted an ideal of its citizens as having a combination of indigenous and European ancestry This obscures the presence of African Asian and other populations that have contributed to the growth of the nation However performance studies of dance music and theatrical events reveal the influence of African people and their cultural productions on Mexican society In this work Anita Gonz lez articulates African ethnicity and artistry within the broader panorama of Mexican culture by featuring dance events that are performed either by Afro Mexicans or by other ethnic Mexican groups about Afro Mexicans She illustrates how dance reflects upon social histories and relationships and documents how residents of some sectors of Mexico construct their histories through performance Festival dances and sometimes professional staged dances point to a continuing negotiation among Native American Spanish African and other ethnic identities within the evolving nation of Mexico These performances embody the mobile histories of ethnic encounters because each dance includes a spectrum of characters based upon local situations and historical memories

Anthropology and the Politics of Representation Gabriela Vargas-Cetina,2013-02 This book examines the inherently problematic nature of representation and description of living people specifically in ethnography and more generally in anthropological work as a whole In this book the editor brings together a group of international scholars who through their fieldwork experiences reflect on the epistemological political and personal implications of their own work To do so they focus on such topics as ethnography anthropologists engagement in identity politics representational practices the contexts of anthropological research and work and the effects of personal choices regarding self involvement in local causes that may extend beyond purely ethnographic goals

Style, Society, and Person Christopher Carr,Jill E. Neitzel,2013-11-11 Style Society and Person integrates the diverse current and past understandings of the causes of style in material culture It comprehensively surveys the many factors that cause style reviews theories that address these factors builds and tests a unifying framework for integrating the theories and illustrates the framework with detailed analyses of archaeological and ethnographic data ranging from simple to complex societies Archaeologists sociocultural anthropologists and educators will appreciate the unique unifying approach this book takes to developing style theory The Aesthetics of Rule and Resistance Lisa Bogerts,2022-03-11 Effective visual communication has become an essential strategy for grassroots political activists who use images to publicly express resistance and make their claims visible in the struggle for political power However this aesthetics of resistance is also employed by political and economic elites for their own purposes making it increasingly difficult to distinguish from the aesthetics of rule Through illuminating case studies of street art in Buenos Aires Bogot Caracas and Mexico City The Aesthetics of Rule and Resistance explores the visual strategies of persuasion and meaning making employed by both rulers and resisters to foster self legitimization identification and mobilization Native on the Net Kyra Landzelius,2004-11 The Internet is increasingly being used by marginalized ethnic groups to create a form of community and unified political voice This book explores the lives and agendas of these web users and the political effects of their online activity Critical Communities and Aesthetic Practices Francis Halsall,Julia Jansen,Sinéad Murphy,2011-11-17 Critical Communities and Aesthetic Practices brings together eminent international philosophers to discuss the inter dependence of critical communities and aesthetic practices Their contributions share a hermeneutical commitment to dialogue both as a model for critique and as a generator of community Two conclusions emerge The first is that one s relationships with others will always be central in determining the social political and artistic forms that philosophical self reflection will take The second is that our practices of aesthetic judgment are bound up with our efforts as philosophers to adapt ourselves and our objects of interest to the inescapably historical and indeterminate conditions of experience The papers collected here address the issue that critical communities and aesthetic practices are never politically neutral and can never be abstracted from their particular contexts It is for this reason that the contributors investigate the politics not of laws parties or state constitutions but of open indefinably critical communities such as audiences peers and friends Critical Communities and Aesthetic Practices is distinctive in providing a current selection of prominent positions written for this volume Together these comprise a pluralist un homogenized collection that brings into focus contemporary debates on critical and aesthetic practices
