Dispute Resolution in China Weixia Gu, 2021-02-22 China's ever expanding commercial influence has attracted global attention on how its civil and commercial disputes are resolved This compelling new book Dispute Resolution in China offers a detailed examination of the elements in the Chinese legal system and the relevant reforms to the multiplicity of approaches to civil and commercial disputes in China today This book reveals how civil litigation commercial arbitration mediation and their hybrid dispute resolution have distinctly responded to reformed and developed in the context of China's transformational economic growth societal development and international interaction in the last two decades. It situates these developments and continued experimentation within a unique hybrid of empirical contextual and comparative analytical framework while paving productive pathways towards the future. This book argues that rather than being a legal project, China's civil and commercial dispute resolution system is essentially a social development project which distinguishes the Chinese approach to civil justice reform from contemporary civil justice movements elsewhere. Among the primary methods of dispute resolution, commercial arbitration in China today uniquely transcending the traditional socio-political constraints, its reform has developed in favor of market-oriented considerations and shaped by China's socio-economic dynamics and internationalization needs. By contrast, civil litigation and mediation being more instrumentalist in nature, their reform is socio-politically embedded and continues to prioritize social stability. This book also shines a fresh light on comparative assessments of top-down and bottom-up changes in China's dispute resolution discourse as well as on how China speaks to international dispute resolution systems. Original and rich in its analysis, this book will be essential reading and invaluable reference tool for scholars with a focus on Chinese law, comparative and international dispute resolution, and on broader legal, institutional, economic, social, political, and cultural dimensions of dispute resolution development.

Transnational Commercial Disputes in an Age of Anti-Globalism and Pandemic Sundaresh Menon, Anselmo Reyes, 2023-01-12. In this book, senior judges and academics at the forefront of transnational commercial law in Asia, Australia, Europe, the US, and elsewhere reflect on the implications of anti-globalism and the COVID-19 pandemic on international commercial dispute resolution (ICDR). The chapters consider: 1. What types of cross-border commercial disputes will arise in the future and what resources will be needed to respond to them in a cost-effective, time-efficient, and equitable manner? 2. Is there still merit in a multilateral approach to transnational commercial law and ICDR despite the closing of borders, the rise of protectionism, and the disruption of global supply chains? 3. What reforms and innovations should courts, arbitrators, and mediators contemplate when navigating the post-pandemic landscape? 4. Can the accelerated use of remote technology in ICDR, as prompted by the pandemic, be leveraged to enhance access to justice for all? With a focus on the current crisis in globalism as well as the associated problems of ensuring justice and fairness in the resolution of cross-border commercial and investment state disputes along the Belt and Road and elsewhere, the book will be an invaluable resource for academics, judges, and practitioners alike.
